Admission Requirements and Program Overview

MISSION STATEMENT

SCHOOL OF SOCIAL WORK UNIVERSITY OF NORTHERN BRITISH COLUMBIA

Social work education at the University of Northern British Columbia is committed to a program of studies that is informed by a central concern for human rights, personal empowerment, community change and social justice. It has as its foundation an analysis of power in relation to class, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, age and abilities. Incorporating critical social thinking including structural, feminist and anti-racist analyses, the Program focuses on social work in northern and remote areas, aboriginal and cross cultural issues, women and human services and community practice and research. It will continue to develop in collaboration with regional, national and global communities.

The School of Social Work seeks to provide its graduates with intellectual, practical and professional skills and knowledge rooted in progressive values that promote beneficial change. By acknowledging the holistic, interdisciplinary and activist nature of social work and its commitment to social justice, the curriculum and governance of social work education at UNBC will strive to provide a self-reflective balance between theory and practice; research, teaching and community service; and critical self-awareness and respect for the ideas of others. The School of Social Work will seek to ensure a safe and stimulating education environment for faculty, staff and students.

INTRODUCTION

The UNBC School of Social Work derives its mission from the University's goal of responding to educational needs which states that: "UNBC is committed to serving a vast region by building partnerships and by being innovative, resourceful, and responsive to student and community needs. In the spirit of its Carrier motto – 'En cha huna' – UNBC celebrates diversity and intends to reflect and to foster the rich cultural diversity of northern British Columbia and its peoples."

The School's Mission Statement addresses the centrality of responding to the needs of Aboriginal communities when it states: "Incorporating critical social thinking including structural, feminist and anti-racist analyses, the Program focuses on social work in northern and remote areas, Aboriginal and cross cultural issues..."

Consistent with the University's central emphasis, the School seeks to provide the highest quality of professional social work education at both the MSW and the BSW levels and thus prepare highly qualified graduates to staff and lead social work and social welfare efforts. In this regard, the MSW Program is to prepare students for advanced social work practice and professional leadership; develop knowledge that supports social work practice and education; enhance the well-being of people by shaping social policies, programs, services and resources; address conditions that undermine human development and affect people adversely; and, serve diverse populations locally and nationally.

The MSW Program is available on a full- or part-time basis and can be completed through a thesis or practicum route. It offers students an integrated research/policy/practice concentration in one of the four thematic areas - social work in northern and remote areas, First Nations, women and the human services, and community practice and research. The MSW Program prepares students for entry into advanced social work practice through the study of direct practice with individuals, families, and groups; practice with and within organizations and communities; and concentrated study in a particular field of practice or substantive area. Study in the MSW Program prepares students to explore, assess, and intervene with different clients in ways that are ethical, purposeful, and reflective; in addition, it prepares them to evaluate their practice systematically.

Note: The Regulations of the Office of Research and Graduate Programs and of the Graduate Academic Calendar take precedence over this document. Please see their webpages at www.unbc.ca/graduateprograms and <http://www.unbc.ca/calendar/graduate> respectively.

PROFESSIONAL SUITABILITY POLICY

Policy of Professional Suitability for the School of Social Work at the University of Northern British Columbia:

The School of Social Work of the University of Northern British Columbia requires that students in this program conduct themselves according to the relevant Code of Ethics.

In addition, the School of Social Work of the University of Northern British Columbia requires those students admitted to the program to conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times, while in class, or in practicum. In most instances, unprofessional behaviour will be covered under the UNBC Harassment and Discrimination Policy or the Student Conduct Policy or the General University Guidelines (see current UNBC Calendar).

The School of Social Work is committed to the development of professional graduates and is dedicated to ensuring the highest quality program for its students.

The School of Social Work understands and recognizes that Social Work students have responsibility for:

- taking full advantage of the education, training and service opportunities this program offers
- their conduct in all situations associated with their program of study
- respecting and treating others without discrimination, harassment, intimidation, physical or psychological abuse as it relates to their participating in the program

Prohibited Conduct

Prohibited conduct includes, but is not limited to:

- any violation of the Student Conduct or Harassment and Discrimination policies or the General University Guidelines, in which case those policies shall be followed
- demonstrated behaviour with respect to other students, faculty, colleagues, school or the public which is harmful or destructive
- conduct, which if participated in by practising social workers, would result in a serious violation of the relevant Code of Ethics.

Review Mechanism of Professional Suitability

When circumstances arise which do not fall within the scope of other University policies relating to student behaviour, then, concerns about student behaviour will be dealt with under the following procedures:

1. Where an instructor believes that a student has been involved in prohibited conduct she or he must forward that concern in writing to the Chair of Social Work within 15 working days.
2. In investigating the complaint the Chair will meet with the instructor, the student, and any other person necessary in order to ascertain the basis of the allegations/counter allegations. Then together with the student's Academic Supervisor, the Chair will meet with the two parties to see if the issue can be satisfactorily resolved on an informal basis.

3. If the matter can be resolved informally, the resolution will be final and there shall be no further proceedings.
4. However, if the matter cannot be resolved informally, the matter will be referred to a tribunal.
5. In the event that the investigation is continued a tribunal will be established by the Chair of the School of Social Work comprising a faculty representative of the School of Social Work, a College (CASHS) faculty representative, a social work student representative and a member of the Northern Branch of BCASW to hear the complaint. The College faculty representative will serve as Chair.
6. The tribunal will judge the complaint according to the criteria established in the policies and procedures of this document and make its recommendation to the Dean of the Graduate Studies, who will decide on any disciplinary action to be taken.
7. The student has the right to appeal the decision of the Dean and would exercise this right through the normal appeals procedures of the University.

LIABILITY AND INSURANCE FOR PRACTICUM STUDENTS

Liability and Insurance information is intended for students undergoing a practicum during their course of studies in the School of Social Work at the University of Northern British Columbia.

Under the University, Colleges and Institutes Protection Plan, the University is covered against the liability imposed at law, or assumed under contract, for damages to third parties arising from personal injury or property damage caused by the student's negligence.

Agency Directors will receive/have received a copy of a contractual "Educational Institution Affiliation Agreement" which is signed by the appropriate agency representative and a University official. The contract clearly articulates the responsibilities of the agency and the University.

The current policy for WorkSafe BC coverage is to extend coverage to all students while participating in the "practicum" component of all programs offered by the provincial colleges, institutes, and UNBC (regardless of the source of funding for the programs).

For coverage, a "practicum" is defined as:

- < an integral component of a program
- < unpaid and supervised work experience
- < which takes place at the host employer's place of business

To ensure that students' claims will be accepted, the program must have been identified to the UNBC Health and Safety Coordinator to ensure that it has been placed on the program list with the Ministry of Skills, Labour and Training for coverage.

Agency and Faculty Field Instructors must report all incidents and accidents to the UNBC Health and Safety Office (Phone: Peter Hickey 960-5535) in accordance with the Incident/Accident Reporting and Investigation Policy of the University. This process will ensure that any necessary documentation is completed and submitted to WorkSafe BC. It will also ensure that accidents are appropriately investigated. Note that physical or emotional injury arising out of client violence against a student on a practicum placement is reportable and may be compensable.

Despite the coverage which exists, all students are encouraged to have their own medical insurance, such as BC Medical Services Plan.

The UNBC Incident/Accident Reporting and Investigation Policy require that all incidents or accidents must be reported within 24 hours. Accident investigations, which are an important element of the University's overall health and safety program, are normally required. The purpose of an accident investigation is to identify the causes of an accident as well as measures to prevent its reoccurrence.

VEHICLE

While the University insurance policy covers the activities and legal liabilities of students while engaged in their practicum training, it does NOT include their vehicles. If a student has an accident driving to or from a practicum setting, or driving in the course of their practicum activities, their liabilities MUST be covered under their own personal insurance policy. It will not be covered by the University. Therefore, students should review their individual policies and consider whether they have adequate coverage for the use of their vehicle.

GUIDELINES ON CONFIDENTIALITY FOR PRACTICUM STUDENTS

Guidelines on Confidentiality are intended for students undergoing a practicum during their course of studies in the School of Social Work at the University of Northern British Columbia.

When social work students begin their practicum, they must adhere to the principle of confidentiality. They shall protect the confidentiality of all information acquired from the client or others regarding the client and the client's family during the professional relationship.

Students should review the relevant Code of Ethics on Confidential Information (e.g., BCASW, CASW). They must also become familiar with and follow confidentiality policies of the agencies in which they are placed.

The School of Social Work at UNBC has contracted with social service agencies regarding the use of process recordings, audio, and video tapes in order to clearly identify ownership of such material.

Additionally, the following guidelines on confidentiality are designed to protect client confidentiality:

1. No identifying information (names, addresses, telephone numbers, etc.) regarding clients is to be revealed outside of the agency
2. Students must have signed letters of consent from clients for use of any case material where there is a possibility of identification of clients
3. Students should protect the confidentiality of clients' written and electronic records and other sensitive information. They should take reasonable steps to ensure that clients' records are stored in a secure location
4. Students should not remove records containing privileged information from their placement agency
5. Students should feel free to seek consultation and advice from Agency Supervisors and the Faculty Field Instructor on any confidentiality issue

Freedom from Harassment and Discrimination Policy

UNBC policies on harassment and discrimination apply to field placements.

THE MASTER OF SOCIAL WORK (MSW)

The Master of Social Work (MSW) is available on a full- or part-time basis. The program of study for the MSW consists of required and elective courses, including a thesis or a practicum option, totalling 33 credit hours. Students entering the MSW Program without a BSW are required to complete a Foundation Year of studies, totalling an additional 33 credits, for a total of 66 credit hours overall. The MSW offers students an integrated research/policy/practice program in one of a number of thematic areas: social work in northern and remote areas, First Nations, women and the human services, and community practice and research.

MSW GOALS

The aim of the MSW Program is to provide students with advanced social work research, policy and practice skills. It is designed to enable students to pursue independent studies that will help them undertake a variety of responsibilities in management, policy formulation, program consultation, planning, research within the human services and advanced social work practice.

The MSW Program allows students to:

1. Develop critical analysis of the assumptions and implications of current social work and social policy goals, theories and interventions in the context of a diverse Canadian society with multiple and intersecting bases of oppression
2. Combine analytic ability, thoughtful intervention, critical professional judgement, and ethical responsibility in their analysis of issues and problems
3. Develop research skills and knowledge pertinent to social work practice

The MSW Program at UNBC emphasizes a critical and proactive orientation that aims to provide informed theoretical, empirical and substantive choices for improvements in human service programs, policies, education and social work practice. This approach to social work and social policy is known as social administration.

Key elements in the social administration approach to the thematic areas of the MSW at UNBC comprise:

1. The description and analysis of the operation of human services in northern and remote regions
2. The study of social policies and social work practices and their individual and social consequences for the people and communities in the interior and northern British Columbia
3. The examination of global, historical, social and economic changes and the way these affect the living conditions and the people served by human service agencies and organizations in northern and remote areas
4. The recognition of the values central to the responsibility of human service professionals to work with socially disadvantaged and powerless groups, and to expand the power and resources of these groups through social work practice

APPLICATION DEADLINE - February 15 of each year

MSW application forms are available online and from the Office of the Registrar. For information on graduate studies admissions at UNBC, call (250)960-6336 or access the website www.unbc.ca/graduateprograms. The number of spaces in the MSW is limited and competition is very keen. Prospective applicants are urged to consult the School of Social Work early for details of the MSW Program delivery.

Completed applications for admission to graduate studies in Social Work at UNBC must be submitted to the Office of the Registrar prior to the application deadline. February 15 is the deadline for students planning to begin their studies in any year. Normally admission is confined to the Fall semester.

ACCREDITATION

The MSW Program at UNBC is fully accredited and was granted the maximum seven-year re-accreditation by the Canadian Association for Social Work Education (CASWE) in June 2010. CASWE is a voluntary, national and non-profit association of university faculties, schools and departments offering professional education in social work at the undergraduate, graduate and post-graduate levels.

LENGTH OF TIME TO COMPLETE STUDIES

Full-time Students:

Students are referred to section 4.2.1 in the UNBC Graduate Calendar for regulations governing time limits for graduate students. Normally, a student proceeding toward a Master's degree will be required to complete all the requirements for the degree within five years (60 consecutive months) from the date of first registration in the Master's degree.

For full-time students taking the thesis route, a reasonable time limit to complete the MSW is 24 months from the first date of registration. Coursework can be completed between September and the end of April of the first year. Thesis writing may take an additional 18 months. Students taking the practicum route may start the practicum preparation once coursework is done (i.e. the following spring semester). Normally, students need a minimum of four (4) months to complete the practicum and additional time to write the practicum report.

Part-time Students:

Normally students will be required to complete their studies within five years from the first date of registration. To maintain part-time status students must enrol in a minimum of one course per semester.

Time Required for Practicum or Thesis:

You will need to think carefully about the time commitment before applying to our MSW. Normally, full-time students spend a minimum of two semesters to complete their coursework (excluding the Foundation Year). Therefore, if you are planning to work full-time on your degree, you will be expected to complete your practicum and practicum report in 6 - 12 months. If you are planning to work part-time on your degree, a reasonable length of time to complete your practicum and write your practicum report is 12-18 months.

Normally, undertaking thesis research and completing thesis writing will take some 12 - 18 months for our full-time students. Part-time students will need more time to complete their thesis, depending on individual circumstances. Do not underestimate the time, motivation, and commitment it takes to write a thesis or practicum report!

NOTE: Students entering the MSW Program without a Bachelor of Social Work will be required to take a Foundation Year of studies. This involves two full-time semesters of coursework (33 credits), prior to completing the other MSW requirements.

REGISTRATION

All graduate students must maintain their registration status for all semesters (Fall, Winter, Spring/Summer) in which they are a student.

UNBC Policy on Continuity of Registration

All students are required to either register in every semester (Fall, Winter, Spring/Summer) from the time of admission until the requirements of the degree have been met, or formally withdraw in accordance with Regulation 2.5, "Withdrawal from the University" (please see Regulation 2.5 in the current UNBC Graduate Calendar for more details). Students who have withdrawn from their Graduate program and later wish to return to Graduate Studies must reapply, pay the reapplication fee, and provide a letter to the Graduate Studies Officer stating their rationale for wishing to return to Graduate Studies at the University of Northern British Columbia (please see Regulation 2.0, "Registration Procedures and Status" for more details). The UNBC Graduate Calendar may be accessed online at www.unbc.ca/calendar/graduate.

UNBC Policy on Academic Performance

There are stringent guidelines around academic performance for graduate students. According to Regulation 4.3, "Academic Performance", of the UNBC Graduate Calendar,

"A student who fails to meet academic standards, or whose thesis, project, practicum, or comprehensive examination is not progressing satisfactorily, may be required to withdraw by the Dean of Graduate Programs on the advice of the supervisor and supervisory committee.

4.3.1 Students must attain a semester grade point average of at least 3.00 ("B") for every semester in which they are registered. Individual programs may set higher standards. Any student with a semester grade point average below 3.00 will not be allowed to register in the next semester until their academic performance has been reviewed by their supervisory committee and continuation in their Graduate Program is approved by the committee and the Dean of Graduate Programs.

4.3.2 Every grade lower than "B-" in a course taken for credit in a Graduate Program must be reviewed by the supervisory committee and a recommendation must be made to the Dean of Graduate Programs concerning continuance of the student in the program. Such students will not be allowed to register in the next semester until approved to do so by the Dean of Graduate Programs.

4.3.3 Graduate students may not repeat graduate courses except under exceptional circumstances and only with the approval of the Dean of Graduate Programs on the recommendation of the supervisory committee.

4.3.4 Students registered in a thesis, project, practicum or comprehensive examination will have their progress evaluated through progress reports completed by their supervisor in consultation with the supervisory committee and the student, and submitted to the Dean of Graduate Programs.

4.3.5 Conditions may be imposed by the Dean of Graduate Programs for continuation in the program. The conditions normally must be met within the next semester or the student will be required to withdraw."

ACADEMIC ADVISING/SUPERVISION

On entry to the MSW Program, students are assigned an Academic Supervisor whom they can consult on all matters relating to their studies. The functions of the Academic Supervisor include:

1. Providing information about the MSW Program
2. Providing advice on course selection
3. Reviewing student's progress periodically with the student
4. Signing off on all required graduate studies documentation.

The Academic Supervisor assigned upon admission may continue to be the supervisor for the student's thesis or practicum. However, as students become more familiar with faculty research interests and expertise, they may identify a different faculty member whom they would like to be their Thesis or Practicum Supervisor. In other words, students are free to seek out another faculty member to be their supervisor once their thesis or practicum focus is clear.

ACADEMIC ADVISING/SUPERVISION DURING SABBATICAL

Your faculty supervisor continues her/his supervisory role with you even while on sabbatical and will make necessary arrangements with you in order to do so.

TWO ENTRY ROUTES

1. Entry from a BSW and one year (12 months full-time equivalent) post-BSW human service experience. Entry at this level leads directly into the MSW Program.
2. Entry from a Bachelor degree in a related area and two years (24 months full-time equivalent) of human service experience. Entry at this level begins with an MSW Foundation Year of studies.

Whether entering with or without a BSW, all students accepted into the MSW Program are MSW graduate students.

TEACHING ASSISTANTSHIPS

Full-time graduate students with a minimum GPA of 3.33 may be eligible for a teaching assistantship within the School of Social Work (normally awarded to incoming students first).

MSW FOR STUDENTS WITH A BSW

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS (with BSW)

- One year (12 months full-time equivalent) post-BSW human service experience is required before candidates with a BSW can be considered for the MSW Program.
- A grade point average of at least 3.00 (“B”) in the work of the last 60 credit hours (approximately the last two years) leading to the Baccalaureate degree is required for entry.
- Three letters of reference (two academic, one professional) as well as a written statement of the candidate’s research and practice interests and reasons for pursuing an MSW are required for completion of the application (see application for precise requirements).
- Students must provide a Criminal Records Check in order to apply to the Program. (Results which identify a relevant criminal conviction may disqualify a student from admission into the MSW Program.) Search forms are available in the Registrar’s Office.
- A personal interview may be requested.
- Applicants who do not meet the above requirements may be considered under the provisions of affirmative action.

The Master of Social Work Program requires the successful completion of a minimum coursework of 27 credit hours for practicum students and 21 credit hours for thesis students. The program comprises an integrated core of five required courses, two elective courses and a thesis, OR five required courses, four electives and a practicum. The MSW course requirements appear below and are followed by a MSW Degree table.

REQUIRED COURSES:

Thesis students must take the following required courses:

SOCW 609-3 Advanced Quantitative Research
HHSC 703-3 Advanced Qualitative Research Approaches in Health and Human Sciences
SOCW 704-3 MSW Integrative Seminar
SOCW 700-12 MSW Thesis

Practicum students must take the following required courses:

SOCW 609-3 Advanced Quantitative Research
HHSC 703-3 Advanced Qualitative Research Approaches in Health and Human Sciences
SOCW 704-3 MSW Integrative Seminar
SOCW 732-6 MSW Practicum II

All students must take at least two of the following courses:

SOCW 601-3 Issues in Northern and Remote Social Work
SOCW 602-3 First Nations: Advanced Social Work Practice
SOCW 603-3 Women: Policy and Practice issues
SOCW 605-3 Community Work and the Politics of Change

Please note: Although students must take two of the above-listed courses (SOCW 601, 602, 603, 605), they may decide to take all of these courses using two as electives.

ELECTIVE COURSES*:

Thesis students must take two (2) electives. Normally, those two electives are taken from the list below, or the list immediately above (SOCW 601, 602, 603, 605), but, with approval from the Academic Supervisor, they may on occasion be taken from other UNBC graduate programs, and/or from other accredited Canadian universities via approved transfer agreements.

Practicum students must take a total of four (4) electives. Up to four (and a minimum of two) must be social work courses and come from the list below, or the list immediately above (SOCW 601, 602, 603, 605). With approval from the Academic Supervisor, two may on occasion come from other UNBC graduate programs, and/or from other accredited Canadian universities via approved transfer agreements.

PRACTICUM AND THESIS

Practicum Option: SOCW 732-6 MSW Practicum II

Thesis Option: SOCW 700-12 MSW Thesis

Practicum Option:

The MSW with practicum is 33 credit hours. Students need to complete a total of 9 courses: 5 required courses plus 4 electives and a practicum (i.e. 9 courses x 3 credits = 27 credit hours plus 6 credit hours for the practicum.)

Thesis Option:

The MSW with thesis is 33 credit hours in total. Students need to complete a total of 7 courses: 5 required courses plus 2 electives and a thesis (i.e. 7 courses x 3 credits = 21 credit hours plus 12 credit hours for the thesis.)

(The information on course descriptions starts on page 25. The table below details the MSW Degree requirements.)

MSW FOR STUDENTS WITHOUT A BSW

In 1998, for the first time students without a BSW were admitted to the MSW Program. Enrolment is strictly limited. It requires a Bachelor degree in a related area and two years of full-time human service experience. Entry at this level begins with an MSW Foundation Year of studies.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS (without BSW)

- A minimum of two years (24 months full-time equivalent) human service experience is required before candidates without a BSW can be considered for the MSW Foundation Year. The Bachelor degree should be in a social work-related field or discipline.
- To be admitted a GPA of 3.00 ("B") in the last 60 credit hours (approximately the last two years) of the undergraduate degree is required.
- Three letters of reference (two academic and one professional) as well as a written statement of the candidate's research and practice interests and reasons for pursuing an MSW are also required (see application for precise requirements).
- Students must provide a Criminal Records Check in order to apply to the MSW Foundation Year. (Results which identify a relevant criminal conviction may disqualify a student from admission into the MSW Program.) Search forms are available in the Registrar's Office.
- A personal interview may be requested.
- Applicants who do not meet the above requirements may be considered under the provisions of affirmative action.

Note: Students without a BSW contemplating applying to the MSW Program should consider taking the Social Work prerequisites of SOCW 200 and SOCW 201 prior to enrolment.

REQUIRED COURSES:

All MSW students completing the Foundation Year of studies have to take the following required courses:

- SOCW 630-3 Communication Skills in Social Work Practice
 - SOCW 631-3 Critical Social Work Practice
 - SOCW 632-9*MSW Practicum I (three days per week, fall & winter terms)
 - SOCW 633-3 Critical Social Policy
 - SOCW 634-3 Social Work Research/Policy/ Practice
 - SOCW 635-3 Social Work Philosophy and Ethics
 - SOCW 637-3*Advanced Practice Methods (every other week, fall & winter terms)
 - Two 600 level Electives
- Corequisites

After completing Foundation Year courses, students fulfill the same MSW Program requirements as students who entered the Program with a BSW.

MSW FOUNDATION YEAR COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

REQUIRED COURSES

SOCW 630-3: Communication Skills

Communication Skills in Social Work Practice is an introductory course that aims to increase skills and analysis in the diverse cultural settings that are appropriate to social work among First Nations and remote, northern and rural communities. Learning to recognize the contradictions in people's experiences and to maximize the possibilities, resources and strengths in their lives are critical aspects of a social worker's practice. Emphasis is on integration of interpersonal and analytic skills in learning effective helping strategies within a structural framework that acknowledges the influence of class, race and gender in shaping personal and social well-being. This course includes a Skills Laboratory.

SOCW 631-3: Critical Social Work Practice

This course critically examines the historical origins, values, methods and applications of various social work practice approaches. With an emphasis on structural, feminist, and First Nation social work strategies, the focus includes the application of these approaches to women, minority groups, First Nations, and residents of northern and remote communities. These will be contrasted with other models of social work practice including general systems theory, ecological theory, and case management.

SOCW 632-9: MSW Practicum 1

This practicum is required for all students enrolled in the MSW Foundation Year. It represents the major practicum before moving on to other degree requirements. This course gives students an opportunity to recast their practice experiences into a social work practice and policy theoretical framework. It is geared to the student's social work thinking and skill development with communities, individuals, families and groups within a field practice setting in this region of British Columbia. Students will usually become involved in the professional practice and delivery of social work within the setting of an agency. A bi-weekly Seminar/Skills Review Lab permits students to reflect on their practice experience. This seminar assists in the integration of theory and practice by broadening the professional knowledge base through the sharing of experience and practice. Practicum 1 takes place three days per week during the fall and winter semesters.

Corequisite: SOCW 637-3

SOCW 633-3: Critical Social Policy

This course examines the development of social policy in Canada, including current debates, from conventional and critical perspectives inviting students to consider the relationship between research, policy and social work practice. The course will review ideologies of social welfare policy, its formulation and implementation and consequences for people in need. Policy formulation will be analysed from a critical perspective that examines the role of power and privilege in the construction of social policy. Alternative social arrangements and models of policy and practice will be explored.

SOCW 634-3: Social Work Research/Policy/Practice

Social Work Research, Policy and Practice course introduces research methods and analysis techniques that are used to examine issues in the policy and practice of social work and social welfare. It reviews qualitative and quantitative approaches with an emphasis on community needs research, participatory research and the development of interview schedules and questionnaires. The methods examined in this course will be linked to substantive policy and practice issues that reflect the economic, social and personal circumstances of people and communities in northern, remote and First Nations communities. Note: SOCW 634 must be successfully completed prior to enrolling in SOCW 609 and HHSC 703.

SOCW 635-3: Social Work Philosophy and Ethics

Social Work Philosophy and Ethics critically assesses the ethical issues involved in carrying out the tasks of social work practice, policy and research. Using the Social Work Code of Ethics as a starting point, these practices, policy and research roles are considered in the context of northern and remote social work. The course reviews different theoretical approaches to social work.

SOCW 637-3: Advanced Practice Methods

This course is designed for graduate students who have worked in social work practice settings but who have not had formal social work training. The historical and cultural development of social work practice models will be surveyed with emphasis on contemporary models of practice such as anti-oppressive practice, constructivism, feminist practice, First Nations practice approaches and structural practice. Key components of practice such as assessment, intervention planning, advocacy, organizing, recording, confidentiality, evaluation, case management, interdisciplinarity and termination will be studied. Taken every other week over the fall and winter semesters.

Corequisite: SOCW 632-9

MSW COURSE DESCRIPTIONS

REQUIRED COURSES

SOCW 601-3: Issues in Northern/Remote Social Work

Current Issues in Northern and Remote Social Work Policy and Practice unravels, explores and analyses the linkages between community issues, personal presenting problems and global, national and regional historical, economic and social developments. It focuses on public issues and personal problems as they affect different demographic groups and First Nations populations that live in the central and interior of British Columbia. This course aims to formulate changes in social work practice and policy that gives a greater voice to the consumers of welfare and the social and personal services of the welfare state.

SOCW 602-3: First Nations: Advanced Social Work Practice

First Nations: Advanced Social Work Practice investigates conceptual, policy and practice issues that will help professionals in the human services develop an appropriate role for social work in indigenous cultures. Government and legal processes, values, economic factors, policies and practices will be examined. Issues such as racism, the position of women and children in relation to reserve, town and city life, autonomy, integration, underdevelopment and the transfer of social services to First Nations will be addressed.

SOCW 603-3: Women: Policy/Practice Issues

Women and Human Services: Critical Issues in Policy and Practice explores the historical nature of the role of women and women's struggles in Canada with particular focus on the role of women in northern, remote and First Nation communities. The exploration also includes a review of feminist perspectives and the meaning and application of feminist practice for social work in the areas of policy, research, counselling and direct service. The course draws on interdisciplinary knowledge and will provide the opportunity to analyse and debate the social and political forces which have shaped the condition of women in social work in particular and in human services generally. While gender relations are the focus, they will be analysed as they intersect with race, class, ability, sexual orientation, aging, and so on.

SOCW 605-3: Community Work/Politics of Change

Community Work and the Politics of Change is based on theories of social change and interactive problem solving skills with groups and communities is the main focus of this course. Critical analysis of selected field experiences will be examined in relation to the values of participatory democracy, cooperation, empowerment, mutual aid and a social justice vision of genuine community. Issues to be examined include developing grass roots leadership, valuing undervalued persons and building a community culture of hope. The methods of popular education, participatory action research and other forms of qualitative research directed to the politics of change will be examined.

Please note: Students are required to take two of the above-listed courses (SOCW 601, 602, 603, 605) but may take up to four, designating two as electives.

SOCW 609-3: Advanced Quantitative Research

Advanced Quantitative Research in Social Policy and Social Work Practice covers a range of quantitative methods, research designs, statistical analyses and measures. The course explores social policy and social work issues in comparative, national and provincial contexts and links measures, methods and analyses to current issues and debates in social work policy and practice. The course prepares students with the research tools necessary to undertake their thesis and/or practicum projects.

Prerequisite: MSW students in their Foundation Year must successfully complete SOCW 634-3 prior to taking SOCW 609-3.

HHSC 703-3: Advanced Qualitative Research Approaches in Health and Human Sciences

This course will explore various approaches to qualitative research in the health and human sciences. The approaches will be discussed in light of their epistemological and ontological commitments, their methods and their demands upon the researcher. Included will be an examination of inherent issues of ethics and rigour. The approaches to be examined would normally include: phenomenology, interpretive phenomenology, participatory action research, feminist research, grounded theory and institutional ethnography.

Prerequisite: MSW students in their Foundation Year must successfully complete SOCW 634-3 prior to taking HHSC 703-3.

SOCW 704-3: MSW Integrative Seminar

MSW Thesis/Practicum Proposal Development/Integrative Seminar has two dimensions. One is the focus on the relationship between theory, ideology, policy and practice in the study of social welfare. Its objective is to enable students to acquire, develop and apply analytical approaches to the social policy. The second dimension focuses on the development of thesis/practicum proposals. Students are encouraged to use theoretical approaches in the formulation of the MSW research for thesis and practicum. It examines the steps used in the development of thesis and practicum proposals. It gives the students an opportunity to present their proposals and thesis and practicum plans with other students and faculty.

Note: Normally taken as the last course or one of the last courses in a student's program of study.

ELECTIVE COURSES

SOCW 604-3: Directed Readings

Directed Readings enable students to undertake an independent reading course in an area that fits a chosen MSW research/policy/practice concentration. Students may take a maximum of one Directed Readings as an elective.

SOCW 610-3: Wellness: Alternate Approaches

Wellness: Alternate Approaches introduces and explores a variety of techniques in expressive arts, movement and process oriented therapeutic approaches in working with individuals, couples, families and groups. Themes and exercises focus on addictive behaviours, mental health and wellness. Exercises are interwoven throughout the course. These incorporate the materials taught and provide students with the opportunity to practice the different techniques examined in this course.

SOCW 613-3: Clinical Social Work Practice

Critical analysis of psychotherapy and counselling, particularly by women and ethnic/racial minorities has had an influence on how psychotherapy is organized and how values are expressed. Psychotherapy and counselling have also been influenced by the reality of restructuring in health care, education and social services. Social workers have been faced with the challenge of delivering service in environments that are increasingly restrictive.

These developments have encouraged the implementation of new therapeutic approaches which emphasize brevity, respect for clients, client strength and collaborative approaches to problem solving. This course explores clinical practice within this context with emphasis on issues that pertain to northern British Columbia. The course requires critical analysis as well as practice skills.

SOCW 615-3: Multi-Cultural Social Work Practice

Social Work Practice In a Multi-Cultural Context is to prepare students for work with various ethnic and racial minority clientele. Topics include: the impact of formal and informal social policies and institutions on the well-being of minorities; the relationship between cultural norms and social work practice. Opportunities for experiential learning in the classroom and community settings allow students to interact with selected cultural groups.

SOCW 620-3: Policy Making/Human Services

Policy Making and Human Service Administration will examine the formation and impact of social policy in a variety of areas (such as the pension debate, unemployment insurance reforms, criminal law reform, welfare reform and the personal social services). Socio-political, economic and international forces shaping policy-making will be identified. It will provide students with an opportunity to apply classic and current organization theory to social services administration. The areas under examination include: current problems and issues in social service administration; the impact of hierarchical and bureaucratic structures on social work practice with an emphasis on state social work; and the impetus for organizational changes. Theory and research on the role of the professional worker within the state sector, case materials and students' practice experience will form the basis for discussion.

SOCW 621-3: Comparative Welfare Analysis

Comparative Social Welfare Analysis provides a critical introduction to comparative social policy. Its main theme is to show how the welfare systems of individual countries can only be understood through exploring the wider international context. Particular attention is paid to the interactions between family policies and issues of race and gender, and to the processes by which individuals or groups are given or denied access to full welfare citizenship. Topics include: principles of comparative studies; models of welfare; welfare convergence versus divergence; welfare regime analysis; crisis of the welfare states; and the impact of welfare states.

SOCW 651-3: Legal Issues for Women

This course offers students an overview of constitutional, case and statutory law relating to current women's issues. With an emphasis on the application of Canadian law as it relates to issues facing social workers. The course examines the implications to women of recent changes in constitutional law (e.g., equality provisions in the Charter of Rights and Freedoms), marital and property laws (e.g., child custody and maintenance), and civil and criminal laws (e.g., issues of sexual harassment, sexual assault, wife assault).

SOCW 698-3: Special Topics

This course number designation will be available to permit faculty to offer courses in areas of specialization that fall within the specific concentration streams of the MSW Program. Usually these will be topics about which faculty members have expertise or a special research interest.

SOCW 701-3: Research Practicum

This course is a research-based practicum that provides students with the opportunity to enhance and refine their research skills. It normally takes place two days per week over one semester. This elective is available to both practicum and thesis route students.

PRACTICUM AND THESIS

SOCW 700-12: MSW Thesis

Students taking this route will register for a thesis leading to a written report of high academic quality that demonstrates mastery of the field specified and an ability to undertake research. The thesis may be based on research about models of advanced practice, policy and/or evaluation in the thematic areas of the MSW Program.

SOCW 732-6: MSW Practicum II

This field placement requires students to perform in a social work role or organizational setting. Field education provides students with an opportunity to enhance and refine their social work skills and focus on an area of particular interest. Students are normally placed in an agency or organizational setting that matches their specific learning needs.

RESEARCH PRACTICUM (SOCW 701-3)

Practicum or thesis students may opt to take SOCW 701: Research Practicum, a research-based practicum, as an elective. This field placement will provide students with an opportunity to enhance and refine their research skills. Following admission to the MSW Program, students may consult with their Academic Supervisor about the research-based practicum option. Every effort will be made to match students with a research opportunity that meets their interests. Besides opportunities with faculty members themselves, the University of Northern British Columbia hosts a number of research institutes that are suitable for the research practicum. These include Northern FIRE, the Institute of Social Research and Evaluation, and the Northern Development Institute, among others. There are additional research options with organizations such as the Northern Health Authority, Carrier Sekani Family Services, the Ministry of Children and Family Development, and other locations across northern British Columbia.

A. Learning Objectives of the Research Practicum

- i. The focus is on acquiring, enhancing, and developing applied research skills.
- ii. Students will have the opportunity to actively participate in a research process.
- iii. Students will have the opportunity to experience research from an institutional or organizational perspective.

B. Duration

Normally, the research practicum runs for two full days per week over one semester.

C. Roles

The MSW Coordinator is responsible for approving the research practicum site. The Academic Supervisor will assist in developing the student's Learning Contract, and the Academic Supervisor will evaluate the student's two written assignments, as well as coordinate the mid-term evaluation and final evaluation of student performance.

Practicum Supervisors will normally be based in a research institute or organization or research team that undertakes research. Ideally, they will hold a graduate degree in social work, but graduate degrees in related disciplines are acceptable. The Practicum Supervisor is responsible for assisting the student in developing the Learning Contract, work assignment, technical support, and will develop the mid-term and final evaluation reports in consultation with the student.

The student is responsible for developing a Learning Contract in consultation with the Practicum and Academic Supervisors, and fulfilling the terms of the contract, as well as completing two written assignments evaluated by the Academic Supervisor.

D. Learning Contract

The student will develop a Learning Contract. The contract follows the outline found on page 31, and will be drafted and finalized by the student in consultation with the Practicum and Academic Supervisors.

E. Evaluation

The research practicum (SOCW 701-3) is evaluated on a pass/fail basis. Evaluation takes place at the mid-term and completion of the practicum placement. There are two components that are part of each of these evaluations:

1. The Practicum Supervisor will provide a brief written assessment of the student's progress toward achieving the learning objectives prepared in consultation with the student. One written assessment will be prepared for the mid-term meeting, and one written assessment will be prepared for the end-of-term evaluation meeting. The outline for the assessments follows on page 33. These will be presented and discussed at each of the two evaluation meetings.
2. As well, prior to each evaluation meeting (mid-term and end-of-term), the student will submit (to their Academic Supervisor) a ten-page overview and summary paper about the placement activity to date. These papers will follow normal academic requirements. The Academic Supervisor will read and evaluate the papers prior to each evaluation meeting. In the paper, students will:
 - i. describe the activities they undertook, with particular emphasis on the nature and scope of the research;
 - ii. evaluate their progress toward achieving the learning objectives; and
 - iii. provide relevant references and supporting documents as appropriate.

F. Evaluation of Practicum Setting

At the end of the practicum, the Academic Supervisor will contact the Practicum Supervisor and the student to review the practicum experience.

A Detailed Guide to MSW Practicum and Thesis Options

General Glossary of Terms

Practicum - Applied practice-based experience which involves advanced social work skills and reflective assessment of the student's learning experiences.

Thesis - A study of high academic quality that demonstrates mastery of the field specified and an ability to undertake research.

Academic Supervisor - The Academic Supervisor of an MSW student guides the student through the initial stages of the program, including selection of courses and registration. The Academic Supervisor assigned upon entry into the MSW Program may be retained as the Supervisor or Chair of the student's Practicum or Thesis Supervisory Committee. However, students may change Supervisor to ensure supervision by a faculty member with expertise in the content area, and/or approach/methodology, of the student's thesis or practicum.

Practicum Supervisory Committee - The Practicum Supervisory Committee is composed of the student's Academic Supervisor, Practicum Supervisor, and one other faculty member from the School of Social Work. The Committee guides the student in creating the practicum proposal and report.

Practicum Supervisor - The Practicum Supervisor is an agency, organization or community representative who provides supervision to the student during her/his practicum placement. The Practicum Supervisor provides direct practice guidance, arranges practice assignments, and liaises with the rest of the Practicum Supervisory Committee regarding the student's performance and progress.

Final Evaluative Meeting - The final evaluative meeting consists of a brief, non-public presentation of the practicum report by the student, followed by questions from, discussion with, and adjudication by the members of the Practicum Supervisory Committee.

Thesis Supervisory Committee - The Thesis Supervisory Committee is composed of the student's Supervisor, one other faculty member from the School of Social Work, and one faculty member from outside the School of Social Work at UNBC.

Oral Defence - An oral defence consists of a brief, public presentation of the thesis by the student, followed by questions and adjudication by the Examining Committee.

Examining Committee - The role of the Examining Committee is to assess the thesis, and to conduct an oral examination based on that scholarly work. The Examining Committee consists of the Supervisory Committee and at least one other examiner, called the External Examiner, who must be from outside the School of Social Work and who may not have had any previous involvement with the student or the thesis research.

MSW Program

PRACTICUM and THESIS OPTIONS

The process for completing a thesis or practicum follows.

SOCW 732-6 MSW Practicum II
SOCW 700-12 MSW Thesis

DISTINCTION BETWEEN PRACTICUM AND THESIS

Practicum Applied practice-based experience which involves advanced social work skills and reflective assessment of student's learning experiences.

Thesis A study of high academic quality that demonstrates mastery of the field specified and an ability to undertake research.

PRACTICUM ROUTE: SOCW 732-6 (see page 38 for details)

The MSW with practicum is 33 credit hours and may normally be completed in about 16 months. Students need to complete a total of nine courses: five required courses and four electives (i.e., 9 courses x 3 credit hours = 27 credit hours), plus 6 credit hours for the practicum.

THESIS ROUTE: SOCW 700-12 (see page 47 for details)

The MSW with thesis is 33 credit hours in total, normally taking up to two years. Students need to complete a total of seven courses: five required courses and two electives (i.e., 7 courses x 3 credit hours = 21 credit hours), plus 12 credit hours for the thesis.

UNBC Research Ethics Board

Remember that every research project involving human subjects is required to have the approval of the University of Northern British Columbia's Research Ethics Board (REB) before the research begins. Students who are in doubt as to whether their research projects should be reviewed by the REB should discuss the matter with their Supervisor. Failure to obtain this approval will cause delay in completion of the MSW Program.

MSW PRACTICUM OPTION (SOCW 732-6)

LEARNING OBJECTIVES

Students will engage in a supervised learning activity designed to meet goals of increasing social work knowledge and social work practice skills.

In consultation with their Academic Supervisor, students are required to actively seek their practice learning opportunity by contacting agencies.

The focus is on the acquisition and demonstration of advanced practice knowledge, values, and skills in an agency or community setting.

Students will also have the opportunity to reflect on and test social work theories/intervention methods in their practicum.

The practicum experience will reflect the students' learning agenda: something that relates to their individual learning needs, interests and experiences.

A submission to the Research Ethics Board must be made if there is a research component.

SUPERVISION BY COMMITTEE

Supervision by committee is a tradition within graduate studies and is an effective way to support a graduate student in the development of quality work. The School of Social Work at UNBC has adopted a process and structure that is similar to the process and structure used by other graduate programs at UNBC. Please note that the Regulations of the Office of Research and Graduate Programs take precedence over the School of Social Work guidelines that follow.

PRACTICUM SUPERVISORY COMMITTEE

The Practicum Supervisory Committee consists of three members:

- a) Academic Supervisor (Social Work faculty member)
- b) Practicum Supervisor (supervisor from agency or organization at which the practicum occurs)
- c) Faculty member from School of Social Work

Composition of a Practicum Supervisory Committee

A Practicum Supervisory Committee in Social Work is normally made up of an Academic Supervisor or Chair who is a faculty member of the School of Social Work, and who is tenured or is appointed to a tenure track faculty position. The Committee is also comprised of one other faculty member from the School of Social Work. This Social Work faculty member is tenured, or appointed to a tenure track position, or appointed to an Adjunct faculty position. If Committee members do not meet these criteria, they should be in a term position of sufficient duration to ensure they will be able to work with the graduate student through to completion of the student's practicum. The third member of the Committee is the student's Practicum Supervisor. Normally, this person will be external to the University and employed by the organization in which the student completed her/his practicum requirement. A Practicum Supervisor should have a Master of Social Work degree from an accredited institution and two years of post-MSW practice. In some instances, a graduate degree from a related professional discipline may be acceptable. The Practicum

Supervisor should submit a curriculum vitae or résumé to the student's Academic Supervisor for review.

Qualifications

A Practicum Supervisory Committee will have the expertise, skills and knowledge base to provide a student with the necessary guidance and support through the practicum experience.

Committee Selection Process

Normally, students identify their Academic Supervisor based on the focus and direction of their practicum. A faculty member may decline to supervise a student, but the Program has a responsibility to ensure that each student has a Supervisor. Reasons for not agreeing to a student's request for supervision might include:

1. A faculty member is already at the maximum number of students that she or he can supervise according to School guidelines;
2. The student's topic of study does not match the faculty member's interest or knowledge;
3. The faculty member will be away on some form of leave;
4. There may be issues of compatibility between the student and the faculty member.

Locating the practicum site and Practicum Supervisor is described in sections that follow. Selecting the second committee member from Social Work is usually negotiated between the student and the Academic Supervisor, but ultimately is the Academic Supervisor's responsibility. The Academic Supervisor as well as the student will want to ensure that there is an appropriate mix of skills as well as compatibility between Committee members. Some Academic Supervisors may ask the student to approach prospective members; in other instances, the Supervisor will make the approach. Either option is acceptable, but it is important that the Academic Supervisor be informed and in agreement with the selection of Committee members.

COMPONENTS OF THE MSW PRACTICUM OPTION (SOCW 732-6)

The MSW Practicum Option involves three components: the practicum itself (including the Learning Contract), the practicum proposal and report, and the final evaluative meeting.

1. PRACTICUM

Developing a Practicum

Unlike a BSW practicum and MSW Practicum I which are normally developed by the Field Education Director or Coordinator, MSW Practicum II development will be initiated by the student in consultation with her/his Academic Supervisor. The student is responsible for seeking out a suitable agency with a Practicum Supervisor who meets the standards as outlined in the practicum supervision section that follows. Students are strongly encouraged to develop a practicum that is outside their current or previous place of employment. Please note that the practicum is required to be unpaid and, if at the student's workplace, cannot be in the student's regular area of work nor supervised by the student's employment supervisor.

Once a practicum location is identified, a standard contract called an Educational Institution Affiliation Agreement must be signed by the University and the agency or organization before the student commences the practicum. It is the responsibility of the student's Academic Supervisor to ensure that an affiliation agreement is in place.

Duration of Practicum

MSW Practicum II must comprise the equivalent of 560 hours (approximately equivalent to 16 weeks full-time) in an approved agency or organizational setting. This requirement may be completed on a full-time or part-time basis, depending upon a variety of factors including the availability of the onsite Practicum Supervisor.

Practicum Supervision

Normally supervision will be provided by a social worker with a Master of Social Work degree from an accredited university program. The Practicum Supervisor should have demonstrated knowledge, skill, and experience in the social work practice area that is being used for the practicum experience. This is of obvious importance in facilitating and promoting a productive learning experience. As a consequence, the Practicum Supervisor must have at least two years' social work practice experience. Practicum Supervisors should carry liability insurance or demonstrate that their agency or organization is able to provide coverage in the case of any litigation. In some instances, students may be supervised by a person with a post-graduate degree in a related discipline, such as Psychology or Nursing. In these cases it is expected that the Practicum Supervisor will have a clear understanding of social work and its professional application. The student's Academic Supervisor is also expected to play a more direct role when a non-social worker is providing the practicum supervision. This will ensure that social work ethics, standards and expectations are met.

Normally, Practicum Supervisors will be part of the agency or organization at which the practicum occurs. If they are providing supervision from outside the organization or agency, signed approval must be provided by the organization or agency. Lines of authority and responsibility must be clearly stated.

An executive officer or manager from the agency or organization must provide written approval and authorization for the practicum. This approval will highlight any conditions or requirements of the agency or organization.

Practicum Supervisor

The Practicum Supervisor should submit a curriculum vitae or résumé to the student's Academic Supervisor. The Practicum Supervisor is responsible for developing the practicum learning opportunity together with the student, including a clear and unambiguous Learning Contract which will be signed off by the student, the Practicum Supervisor, and the Academic Supervisor. A sample Learning Contract outline can be found on page 45. The Practicum Supervisor will provide an orientation to the agency or organization, and in conjunction with the Academic Supervisor will develop a Learning Contract together with the student. The Learning Contract will list a series of learning goals, and specify knowledge and skills that the student intends to acquire during the practicum experience. The Practicum Supervisor will normally manage the student's work assignments. The Practicum Supervisor must ensure that work assignments and the volume of work support an educational experience. The Practicum Supervisor will provide regular, scheduled supervision sessions. At the mid- and end-points of the practicum, the Practicum Supervisor will provide a written summary of the student's progress in regard to the practicum and the learning goals. Both will be formally reviewed by the student, the Academic Supervisor, and the Practicum Supervisor.

Academic Supervisor

The Academic Supervisor will consult with the student regarding the practicum location and selection of a Practicum Supervisor. Once this has been completed, the Academic Supervisor ensures that all necessary contractual agreements are signed. The student's Academic Supervisor will provide the Practicum Supervisor with an orientation to the MSW practicum. The Practicum Supervisor should also be invited to attend the UNBC field supervisor training and orientation session.

Practicum Evaluation

The practicum will be evaluated at three points:

1. The Learning Contract – approved prior to commencement of the practicum by the Practicum and Academic Supervisors, along with the student, with all three signing the document;
2. Mid-point evaluation – evaluates the student’s progress in meeting the goals set out in the Learning Contract. Practicum and Academic Supervisors, along with the student, must sign off on this document; and
3. Final evaluation – as with the mid-point evaluation, except that it is a final assessment of the student’s success in the practicum.

The mid-point and final practicum evaluations will be constructed by the Practicum Supervisor in narrative form under three specific sections:

1. The first section will address the knowledge goals stated in the Learning Contract;
2. The second section will address progress toward completion of the tasks listed in the Learning Contract; and
3. The final section will be a summary of the student’s overall performance. In the interim evaluation report, this section will also list any changes to the stated knowledge and task goals outlined in the original Learning Contract.

A Pass/Fail grade is assigned at the final evaluative session.

2. PRACTICUM PROPOSAL AND REPORT

Practicum Proposal

The practicum proposal is developed by the student with the guidance of the entire Supervisory Committee (Academic Supervisor, another Social Work faculty member, and the Practicum Supervisor). However, the main supervisory responsibility for guiding the student in this task lies with the Academic Supervisor. The proposal must be reviewed and approved by all the members of the student’s Practicum Supervisory Committee before the practicum commences. Normally the practicum proposal will include an introduction to the specific area of practice that is the focus of the practicum, a relevant literature review, and a description of the proposed practicum experience, including duration, administrative arrangements, learning goals and objectives, and criteria for evaluation, along with expected implications for social work policy and/or practice – in other words, the proposal will include a specific description of what will become the Learning Contract. The proposal serves as the initial chapters of the student’s practicum report, which is written upon completion of the practicum (see also practicum report components listed in the Practicum Report section that follows).

Practicum Report

The practicum report follows a format similar to that of a thesis, except that it will not normally include a research component. The practicum report will be approximately 50 to 60 typewritten pages in length (double spaced) and will be written using the APA (American Psychological Association) style. The title page should conform to UNBC standards for title pages, as indicated in the “UNBC Formatting Guidelines for Graduate Dissertations, Theses, Projects and Practicum Reports” (found on the web at www.unbc.ca/graduateprograms).

The form of the report is not entirely prescriptive, but usually students will organize the report under the following chapters (with the first three chapters largely written as part of their practicum proposal):

1. Description of the practicum setting
2. Agreed upon learning outcomes from the Learning Contract
3. Literature Review that addresses the practicum area of focus
4. Critical review of learning outcomes as defined in the proposal, within the context of the literature review
5. Implications for personal professional practice and for social policy development/change
6. List of references
7. Appendices (agency brochures, code of ethics, learning outcomes, etc).

The entire Practicum Supervisory Committee will guide the student in crafting the practicum report. However, the main responsibility for this guidance lies with the Academic Supervisor. Once a draft of good quality has been prepared, it is normally distributed to the Practicum Supervisory Committee members for reading and comment. Drafting and editing will continue until the entire Supervisory Committee is satisfied that the report is ready for final evaluation.

3. FINAL EVALUATIVE MEETING

Once the practicum report is ready for final evaluation, a final evaluative meeting time is agreed upon by the student and Supervisory Committee. Three weeks prior to the final evaluative meeting, an Approval Page Request Form should be downloaded from the webpages of the Office of Research and Graduate Programs, completed, and submitted to that office in order that the appropriate Approval Pages can be prepared in time for the meeting. The request form signifies that the practicum report is satisfactory and ready to be evaluated. The three weeks' notice also provides time for an audit of the student's work to ensure that all requirements of the MSW have been met. It is not necessary to submit a copy of the practicum report at this time. The student should include a copy of her/his title page, however. The MSW Program Assistant can book an appropriate room for the final evaluative meeting and collect Approval Pages when ready from the Office of Research and Graduate Programs. The student should reserve any necessary equipment directly with Educational Media Services.

Normally, students must attend final evaluative meetings in person at the UNBC campus at which they are registered as a student. However, if a practicum takes place away from northern British Columbia, and if attending the final evaluative meeting in person would cause the student undue financial or scheduling hardship, the Supervisory Committee could consider another option such as a telephone or Skype connection, subject to the approval of the Chair of Social Work and the Dean of Graduate Programs.

At the final evaluative meeting, the student presents her/his work and responds to questions from the Supervisory Committee as well as engaging in discussion arising from the questions. It is less formal than a thesis defence. There is no required number of questions or length of discussion. Normally the meeting is expected to be approximately one hour in length. The Supervisory Committee will make any final comments/recommendations for revision of the report and assign a grade of Pass or Fail. Unless special permission is granted by the Office of Research and Graduate Programs, the student and the Academic Supervisor must attend the final evaluative meeting in person.

The Committee may approve the report as presented at the final evaluative meeting or determine that changes in the document are necessary. However, having approved the document prior to the final evaluative meeting and given there is no external examiner, it is less likely (than with a thesis) that significant changes will be required. If changes are required, unless Committee members express a wish to see the practicum report again following completion of the changes, Committee members (with the exception of the student's Academic Supervisor) should sign the Approval Pages. The Academic Supervisor, working with the student, will determine when the document is satisfactory for submission to the Office of Research and Graduate Programs. Once satisfactory, the Academic Supervisor signs the Approval Pages.

The Dean of Graduate Programs is informed of the final decision (assuming a passing grade) by submitting the fully signed but undated Approval Pages in blue ink with all original signatures. Two copies of the final practicum report, shrink-wrapped and printed on acid-free paper, should be provided by the student to the Office of Research and Graduate Programs for binding, along with a UNBC Partial Copyright License. It is the responsibility of the student to cover these costs. Usually students provide Committee members with a copy of the final document. The student may wish to order additional copies for her/his own purposes.

MSW THESIS OPTION (SOCW 700-12)

SUPERVISION BY COMMITTEE

Supervision by committee is a tradition within graduate studies and is an effective way to support a graduate student in the development of quality work. The School of Social Work at UNBC has adopted a process and structure that is similar to the process and structure used by other graduate programs at UNBC. Please note that the Regulations of the Office of Research and Graduate Programs take precedence over the School of Social Work guidelines that follow.

THESIS SUPERVISORY COMMITTEE

Students should discuss their interests and thesis option possibilities with their Supervisor. A Thesis Supervisory Committee in Social Work is normally made up of a Supervisor or Chair who is a faculty member of the School of Social Work and who is tenured or is appointed to a tenure track faculty position. The Committee is also comprised of one other faculty member from the School of Social Work who is tenured, or appointed to a tenure track position, or appointed to an Adjunct faculty position. If Committee members do not meet these criteria, they should be in a term position of sufficient duration to ensure that they will be able to work with the graduate student through to completion of the student's thesis. The third member of the Committee must be a tenured or tenure-track faculty member from outside the School of Social Work at UNBC or, if appropriate, from another university.

Qualifications

A Thesis Supervisory Committee will normally have the expertise to provide a student with the necessary guidance and support through the process of designing and completing a thesis. Collectively, the Committee should have the knowledge and skills that relate specifically to the topic of study, as well as to the methodology that the student intends to use in the research process. It is not necessary that the Supervisor or Chair be an expert in the chosen research methodology or topic. However, the Supervisor should ensure that at least one of the other Committee members brings the necessary knowledge or skills to the process.

Selection Process

As noted earlier, students are assigned an Academic Supervisor on entry into the MSW Program. However, students may change Supervisor to better address the specific focus of their thesis research. When changing Supervisor, students should speak to their current Academic Supervisor first about their wish to change.

Normally students identify their Supervisor based on the focus and direction of their thesis research or methodology. A faculty member may decline to supervise a student, but the School has a responsibility to ensure that each student has a Supervisor. Reasons for not agreeing to a student's request for supervision might include:

1. A faculty member is already at the maximum number of students that she or he can supervise according to School guidelines.
2. The student's topic of study does not match the faculty member's interest or knowledge.
3. The faculty member will be away on some form of leave.
4. There may be issues of compatibility between the student and the faculty member.

Selection of Committee members is usually negotiated between the student and her/his Supervisor, but ultimately is the Supervisor's responsibility. The Supervisor as well as the student will want to ensure that there is an appropriate mix of skills as well as compatibility between Committee members. Some Supervisors may ask the student to approach prospective members; in other instances, the Supervisor will make the approach. Either option is acceptable, but it is important that the Supervisor be informed and in agreement with the selection of Committee members. There may be occasions when a student or Supervisor might wish to add a fourth Committee member. This is acceptable, though not encouraged. The member does not have to be from the School of Social Work. Adding a fourth committee member must receive the approval of the Dean of Graduate Programs.

Responsibilities of the Thesis Supervisory Committee

There are some responsibilities that need to be addressed as the student progresses through the process, and Committee members have particular responsibilities associated with various stages of thesis development. After the Committee is formed, the student, working closely with the Supervisor with input from Committee members, will concentrate on developing the thesis proposal. Once it is developed, the proposal must be reviewed by all Committee members. The Committee members are expected to read the proposal and make suggestions regarding modification or change. Normally, the suggestions will be made at a Committee meeting, although it is acceptable to provide individual feedback to the student and Supervisor. The suggested changes will be debated and, if accepted, incorporated into the proposal. The proposal is read again, and there may be another meeting of the Committee to finalize the proposal. Normally this meeting is constructed in a formal manner as a proposal defence. When the proposal is finalized, it can then be submitted for review by the Research Ethics Board. If further changes are recommended following review by the Research Ethics Board, it is important to share the changes with all Committee members.

Once the proposal receives approval from the Research Ethics Board, the student can begin the research process. Usually, the student will work closely with the Supervisor, although other Committee members may be brought in if they have particular expertise that is required.

Following data gathering and analysis, the student and Supervisor may choose to have a meeting with the Committee to discuss preliminary findings, although this is not a requirement. The Supervisor will work with the student to prepare a draft document that must follow accepted format for a Social Work thesis. The most current APA (American Psychological Association) style must be used, along with a document organizational structure that normally includes an introduction, literature review, methodology, results, discussion (or implications for practice and policy), and conclusion.

THE PROPOSAL

A suggested outline or guide for writing and submitting a research proposal follows. The student will use APA (American Psychological Association) style.

The Title Page

The title of the research project should be as specific and descriptive as possible, without being too lengthy. The title page should include the name of the student, and may include the names of the Supervisor and other members of the Supervisory Committee. It should conform to UNBC standards for title pages, as indicated in the “UNBC Formatting Guidelines for Graduate Dissertations, Theses, Projects and Practicum Reports” (found on the web at www.unbc.ca/graduateprograms).

The Problem

The introductory pages of the proposal should contain a clear statement of the problem or problems the student will be examining in her/his study. At this point, the presentation of the problem should be briefly described in terms of its theoretical, substantive, policy and/or practical significance. How will the study contribute to the above areas?

The following are some examples of the criteria that may be used to discuss the significance of the research problem. Note: Depending on the student's approach to the topic, not all of these criteria may be applicable.

1. Its timeliness.
2. Its relation to a practical problem or practice issue.
3. Whether or not it fills a research gap.
4. Whether it relates to an influential, critical or problematic population.
5. The implications of the study for social policy and social work issues.
6. The extent to which the analysis may sharpen the definition and measurement of important concepts.
7. The contribution of the research to the testing or building of theory.
8. The way the study creates or improves on special measurement techniques or instruments for observing and analyzing data.
9. The extent to which the study explores new areas.
10. The implications of the research for new practice developments.
11. The importance of the study for evaluating a new form of policy or practice.

Review of the Literature

Knowledge of the literature related to the issue the student is examining is important. Before writing a proposal, it is necessary to search the literature. The literature will tell the student what has been done up to now—what theoretical, practice, policy developments, measurement and conceptual issues have been looked at. Knowledge of past research saves a lot of time. It directs the student to the areas which have already been studied as well as to those which have yet to be examined.

In the proposal, the literature review contains an analysis of past studies and findings related to the stated problem. It is useful to use this review to show what needs to be done and how past studies have influenced the student's selection of important variables and the way the student will be looking at the problem.

Scope and Method

The research design and the methods used to collect and analyse data are discussed here. The following illustrate some examples of the type of questions that need to be dealt with in this part of the proposal. These will vary depending on the student's selection of a qualitative or quantitative approach to the issue.

Will new information be collected or will secondary sources be used? What is the unit of study (e.g., government documents, social welfare clients)? What data gathering techniques will be used (e.g., an interview schedule, questionnaire, content analysis, and documentary analysis)? What is the universe or population to be studied? Will a sample be collected?

What are the important concepts? How will they be looked at? What nominal and operational definitions will be used to define these concepts?

How will the findings be classified and presented? Will the analysis be qualitative or will the student rely on descriptive and/or inferential statistics? Will hypotheses be tested? Also, what are the hypotheses and what level of significance will be used in these tests?

Budget and Time Schedule

This section involves a brief but realistic account of the amount of time the student expects will be needed to complete the study. The student should be specific in terms of the time required for information and data collection, analysis, and writing.

The budget gives a step-by-step item analysis for costing the research. It is a good idea to realistically work out these details.

References

As with all formal proposals, a complete list of references must be included with the student's presentation.

EVALUATION OF THESIS DRAFT

As noted on page 48,

“Once the proposal receives approval from the Research Ethics Board, the student can begin the research process. Usually, the student will work closely with the Supervisor, although other Committee members may be brought in if they have particular expertise that is required.

Following data gathering and analysis, the student and Supervisor may choose to have a meeting with the Committee to discuss preliminary findings, although this is not a requirement. The Supervisor will work with the student to prepare a draft document that must follow accepted format for a Social Work thesis. The most current APA (American Psychological Association) style must be used, along with a document organizational structure that normally includes an introduction, literature review, methodology, results, discussion (or implications for practice and policy), and conclusion.”

It is normal for students to submit one, two or more drafts of a thesis to the Supervisory Committee for approval.

Once a draft of good quality is prepared, it should be distributed to all Committee members for reading and comment. When the Committee members have carefully read the document a meeting is usually held to discuss concerns and required changes. Following the meeting, the student will make the necessary changes and the revised document will be distributed to all Committee members for further careful review. A meeting may or may not be held for further discussion and review. If the changes are minor, these can be communicated through the Supervisor and the student can make the changes.

Once all Committee members have read the document and are satisfied that the document is ready for defence, the student and/or supervisor should download the Request for Oral Examination and Appointment of an External Examiner form from the webpages of the Office of Research and Graduate Programs, complete (including signatures of all Committee members and naming the proposed External Examiner), and submit the document to that office along with two copies of the final thesis at least six weeks before the agreed date for the defence. A copy of the student's title page should also be emailed to the Administrative Assistant in that office. Note: All Committee members must be satisfied with the student's work prior to the submission of the Request for Oral Examination.

EXAMINING COMMITTEE AND IDENTIFYING AN EXTERNAL EXAMINER

According to Regulation 4.5.2, “Examining Committees”, of the UNBC Graduate Calendar, the role of the Examining Committee is to assess the dissertation or thesis, and to conduct an oral examination based on that scholarly work. The Examining Committee will consist of the Supervisory Committee and at least one other examiner, called the External Examiner, who must be from outside the School of Social Work and who may not have had any previous involvement with the student or the thesis research.

The Supervisor selects the External Examiner based upon the following criteria:

1. Normally, the External Examiner must have a PhD (or be ABD) and hold an appointment as an Associate Professor or full Professor;
2. The External Examiner must have the knowledge to fairly evaluate the thesis; and
3. The External Examiner must be from outside the School of Social Work and not have had any previous involvement with the student’s thesis research.

POLICY ON THE APPOINTMENT OF AN EXTERNAL EXAMINER

As mentioned previously, six weeks prior to the proposed defence date, the student or Supervisor must submit the Request for Oral Examination and Appointment of an External Examiner form and at least two copies of the thesis. The proposed date and time for the defence should be noted on the form and the Supervisor, not the student, should have made contact with the proposed External Examiner to ensure that she or he is available either to attend in person or via a conference call. The Supervisor should also make it clear to the External Examiner that his/her name has been recommended to the Dean of Graduate Programs and is subject to approval. It is also the Supervisor’s role to confirm the date and time proposed for the defence with the other members of the Supervisory Committee and the student prior to submitting the form.

Personal Contact with the External Examiner

To ensure that an arm’s length, independent review is possible, the External Examiner should not have participated directly in supervising the student or directing the work. Any contact initiated by the External Examiner should be directed either to the Office of Research and Graduate Programs or to the Supervisor. The Supervisor should not communicate views of the External Examiner to the student prior to the defence.

Two copies of the student’s thesis must accompany the above-mentioned form. One copy is for the Chair of the Oral Defence, and the other is for the External Examiner. In the event that the recommended External Examiner is approved, the Office of Research and Graduate Programs will courier a copy of the thesis to the individual. If the recommended External Examiner is not deemed suitable by the Dean of Graduate Programs, the supervisor will be notified and another name will be requested.

Once the External Examiner is approved and the date and time of the defence are confirmed, the Office of Research and Graduate Programs will book a room and any required AV equipment. As well, a Chair (either the Dean of Graduate Programs or designate) will be selected. The Office of Research and Graduate Programs will send an announcement of the defence in an email to faculty and graduate students, and will also post the announcement on UNBC’s general email list. Any additional advertising of the defence is the responsibility of the Program, the Supervisor, or the student.

ORAL EXAMINATION

The Examining Committee is comprised of the student's Thesis Supervisory Committee, as well as an External Examiner. A Chair, normally the Dean of Graduate Programs or designate, presides. Students are expected to make a brief presentation that summarizes their thesis and the key findings of the research. This presentation should take no longer than 15 or 20 minutes. Presentations that run longer run the risk of being cut short by the Chair. The presentation is for the benefit of the audience and the External Examiner. It should focus on the essential ingredients of the research. A good presentation should make effective use of technology, but above all it should be clear and succinct.

Usually, questions begin with the External Examiner and then move to the external Committee member, the program Committee member, and lastly, the student's Supervisor. There are usually three rounds of questions. After the third round, if time permits, the audience is asked if they have any questions. On rare occasions, the Chair may ask a question. When the question period has been completed, the audience and the student are asked to leave the room. The Examining Committee evaluates the thesis and the oral defence, and comes to a decision. The student is called back in and notified of the Committee's decision. The different decisions that can be made by the Examining Committee are found in Regulation 4.5.4, "Results of Oral Examinations", of the UNBC Graduate Calendar. These are listed below in the section entitled "Results of Oral Examinations for Thesis".

It is the Supervisor's responsibility to gather the concerns to be addressed by the student that are identified by the Committee members. It is helpful if Committee members clearly identify the required changes, as this makes it easier for the student to complete the work. Once a student has successfully defended her/his thesis, and made any changes to the document that resulted from the defence, the student must submit two (2) copies of the thesis on acid-free paper, plus a copy on regular paper, to the Office of Research and Graduate Programs, along with a UNBC Partial Copyright License Form. The two acid-free copies are sent to be hard-cover bound. The student is responsible for covering all costs associated with printing and binding of the thesis. Usually, students will provide Committee members with a copy of the final document. The student may wish to order additional copies for her/his own purposes.

RESULTS OF ORAL EXAMINATIONS FOR THESIS

The decision of the Examining Committee shall be based on the content of the scholarly work or thesis, as well as the candidate's ability to defend it. After the examination, the Committee shall recommend to the Dean of Graduate Programs one of the following results:

Clear Pass

That the thesis is acceptable as presented and the oral defence is acceptable. In this case, all members of the Examining Committee shall sign the Approval Pages. A "pass" grade is submitted to the Office of the Registrar for the student's thesis.

Pass with Minor Revision

That the thesis is acceptable subject to minor revision and the oral defence is acceptable. In this case, all members of the Examining Committee, except the supervisor, shall sign the Approval Pages. The supervisor shall sign the Approval Pages when the thesis has been amended to include the changes that were requested by the Examining Committee. A "pass" grade is submitted to the Office of the Registrar for the student's thesis.

Pass with Major Revision

That the thesis is acceptable subject to major revision and the oral defence is acceptable. In this case, none of the members of the Examining Committee shall sign the Approval Pages. The supervisor shall supervise the revision of the thesis. When the revisions have been completed and have been approved by the supervisor, the supervisor shall distribute the revised thesis to the rest of the Examining Committee. If it is acceptable to the Examining Committee, the supervisor shall ensure that the Approval Pages are signed by each member of the Examining Committee. A “pass” grade is submitted to the Office of the Registrar for the student’s thesis.

Adjournment of the Examination

That the examination be adjourned. Reasons to adjourn the examination include, but are not limited to: further research or experimentation is required; the thesis is acceptable, but the student has failed the oral defence; the External Examiner casts the lone dissenting vote. In the case of an adjourned examination, the candidate shall not be passed and no member shall sign the Approval Pages. When an examination is adjourned, each member of the Examining Committee shall make a written report to the Dean of Graduate Programs within 14 calendar days of the date of the oral examination. After reviewing these reports, the Dean sets a date for reconvening the examination. The Dean shall also determine whether or not the composition of the original committee is appropriate for the reconvened examination. The date for reconvening shall be no later than six months from the date of the first examination.

Failure

That the thesis and the oral defence are unacceptable. If two or more members of the Examining Committee are opposed to passing the student, the student will not be recommended for the degree. In this case, the Examining Committee shall make a written report to the Dean of Graduate Programs within 14 calendar days from the date of the oral examination outlining the reasons for this decision. A student who fails the oral examination has the right to appeal, and should consult with the Office of the Registrar regarding the appropriate procedures.

Part III:

Foundation Year Field Education Manual MSW Practicum 1 (SOCW 632-9)

GLOSSARY OF TERMS

Agency Supervisor- is an agency, organization or community representative who provides supervision to the student during her/his field education placement. The Agency Supervisor provides direct practice guidance, arranges practice assignments, and liaises with the Faculty Field Instructor regarding student's performance and progress.

Client - The person, family, group of persons, incorporated body, association or community on whose behalf a social worker and/or social work student provides or agrees to provide a service.

Faculty Field Instructor - The assigned faculty person who is responsible for advising and evaluating the student in the field as well as establishing the necessary liaison between the University and the field education agency or organization.

Field Education Director - The faculty person responsible for coordinating the development, maintenance, assignment of students to agencies, and evaluation of all field placements.

Field Education Coordinator - Acts as a liaison person between the agencies and the University and provides all the administrative functions of Field Education.

Harassment and Discrimination Policy - The University has a defined policy on harassment and discrimination. The spirit of this policy not only applies to students and faculty but also to agency-based supervisors and agency personnel. Violation of these provisions is regarded as a serious matter.

High Risk - High risk situations can apply to the client, the agency or organization and the student social worker. Situations that might be considered high risk for the purpose of social work students are those where there is a reasonable expectation of physical danger or damaging publicity. (Examples: Investigating and making a disposition decision in an alleged case of child abuse; working with a person who is a high risk for suicidal behaviour; making a presentation on behalf of an organization that will determine allocation of vital funding.) Such situations might not be viewed as high risk for students if they work conjointly with an experienced agency social worker.

SECTION 1: Information for Agency Supervisors

SUPERVISORY TRAINING AND ORIENTATION

Training is available for all first time supervisors. The focus of this training would include:

1. Summarize the UNBC School of Social Work
2. Provide an overview of social work supervision
3. Highlight the differences and similarities between field staff supervision and student supervision
4. Discuss models and approaches to supervision
5. Describe the specific responsibilities of the Agency Supervisor
6. Review and discuss Learning Contracts and evaluation procedures
7. Discuss procedures for problem solving and trouble shooting
8. Discuss appropriate case assignments

Experienced supervisors may offer suggestions to new supervisors to help enable supervisors to develop further skills in the area of student supervision. Supervisors can share ideas, experience and some specific student supervision strategies.

STUDENT SUPERVISION

Regular supervision provides an opportunity for Agency Supervisors to guide students through the practicum requirements and provide an opportunity for feedback and processing of the theory and practice integration. Agency Supervisors should establish consistent and regular times for supervisory contact with the student. We suggest agreeing upon a regular protected period of time which will be established in the Learning Contract. During placements, students will also meet with their Faculty Field Instructor on a regular basis.

POTENTIAL PLACEMENT DIFFICULTIES

While we all hope that each and every field placement results in a positive experience for the student, the Agency Supervisor and the Faculty Field Instructor, this may not always be the case. If there are problems which cannot be quickly resolved, then it is important to alert the Field Education Faculty Field Instructor or the Director of Field Education as quickly as possible. The matters of concern should be well documented. In most cases, it will be possible to resolve the problems but there may be times when the placement is simply not going to work. In these situations, it will be important to make the necessary changes expeditiously and in a way that protects clients, the student, the Agency Supervisor, and the agency.

In very few cases there are students who are simply not suited to the profession of social work. This is always a difficult matter to deal with and if it becomes apparent that this is the issue then the University does not expect the Agency Supervisor to deal with students regarding their professional suitability. The Faculty Field Instructor and the Director of Field Education should be notified as quickly as possible of any difficulties in order to be involved in the outcome.

PROFESSIONAL SUITABILITY POLICY

Policy of Professional Suitability for the School of Social Work at the University of Northern British Columbia:

The School of Social Work of the University of Northern British Columbia requires that students in this program conduct themselves according to the relevant Code of Ethics.

In addition, the School of Social Work of the University of Northern British Columbia requires those students admitted to the program to conduct themselves in a professional manner at all times, while in class, or in practicum. In most instances, unprofessional behaviour will be covered under the UNBC Harassment and Discrimination Policy or the Student Conduct Policy or the General University Guidelines (see current UNBC Calendar).

The School of Social Work is committed to the development of professional graduates and is dedicated to ensuring the highest quality program for its students.

The School of Social Work understands and recognizes that Social Work students have responsibility for:

- taking full advantage of the education, training and service opportunities this program offers
- their conduct in all situations associated with their program of study
- respecting and treating others without discrimination, harassment, intimidation, physical or psychological abuse as it relates to their participating in the program

Prohibited Conduct

Prohibited conduct includes, but is not limited to:

- any violation of the Student Conduct or Harassment and Discrimination policies or the General University Guidelines, in which case those policies shall be followed
- demonstrated behaviour with respect to other students, faculty, colleagues, school or the public which is harmful or destructive
- conduct, which if participated in by practising social workers, would result in a serious violation of the Code of Ethics.

Review Mechanism of Professional Suitability

When circumstances arise which do not fall within the scope of other University policies relating to student behaviour, then, concerns about student behaviour will be dealt with under the following procedures:

1. Where an instructor believes that a student has been involved in prohibited conduct she or he must forward that concern in writing to the Chair of Social Work within 15 working days.
2. In investigating the complaint the Chair will meet with the instructor, the student, and any other person necessary in order to ascertain the basis of the allegations/counter allegations. Then together with the student's Academic Supervisor, the Chair will meet with the two parties to see if the issue can be satisfactorily resolved on an informal basis.

3. If the matter can be resolved informally, the resolution will be final and there shall be no further proceedings.
4. However, if the matter cannot be resolved informally, the matter will be referred to a tribunal.
5. In the event that the investigation is continued a tribunal will be established by the Chair of the School of Social Work comprising a faculty representative of the School of Social Work, a College (CASHS) faculty representative, a social work student representative and a member of the Northern Branch of BCASW to hear the complaint. The College faculty representative will serve as Chair.
6. The tribunal will judge the complaint according to the criteria established in the policies and procedures of this document and make its recommendation to the Dean of the Graduate Studies, who will decide on any disciplinary action to be taken.
7. The student has the right to appeal the decision of the Dean and would exercise this right through the normal appeals procedures of the University.

SECTION 2: Information for MSW Practicum Students and Agency Supervisors

INTRODUCTION

MSW Practicum I (SOCW 632-9)

The MSW Program at UNBC has an emphasis on practice in northern and remote areas, First Nations people, women, and community practice and research. These areas combined with an analysis of class, gender and race relations are emphasized throughout Social Work courses and in the MSW Practicum I. Students at the MSW level have the opportunity to develop advanced skills and knowledge in these core areas.

MSW Practicum I (SOCW 632-9) is compulsory for all MSW students who are completing a Foundation Year. It offers them an opportunity to develop their social work practice skills within an agency or community setting. A variety of placements are available and whenever possible the student's interests and learning needs will be matched with a suitable placement opportunity. The placement experience involves the student, Faculty Field Instructor and Agency Supervisor in a partnership which is intended to facilitate the student's learning.

The intent of MSW field education is to:

- Facilitate students familiarization with practice environments
- Assist students development in intervention, evaluation and termination skills
- Encourage students to develop independent decision making skills
- Encourage students in critical thinking about service delivery and practice issues
- Provide an opportunity for students to link social work concepts and values with practice skills
- Develop record keeping and case management skills
- Develop social work analytical skills (i.e., view the client/community issues from a social work perspective that emphasizes a structural analysis)
- Foster the integration of theory and practice

In order for MSW students to think reflectively about their practice experience, it is essential that they have sufficient time. Therefore, while students will perform actual social work within organizations and agencies, students will not be expected to carry a full work load.

For field education in the Foundation Year (SOCW 632-9), all students are required to work in a practice setting three days per week throughout two semesters (September to April). This course is graded on a pass/fail basis.

ROLES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Field Education Director and Regional Field Education Coordinator

The Field Education Director has overall responsibility for the development, maintenance, recruitment, coordination and evaluation of field education placements as well as updating the Field Education Manual. Specific responsibilities for the Field Education Director and Regional Field Education Coordinators include:

1. Recruitment of agencies and organizations for field education placements
2. Recruitment of Agency Supervisors with suitable qualifications and background experience
3. Discussions with Faculty Field Instructors regarding areas of practice expertise and interest and, if possible, matching individual Agency Supervisors with appropriate student placements
4. Provide training and orientation to Agency Supervisors and Faculty Field Instructors
5. Responsible for overall supervision of field placements and student appeals in the respective campus.
6. Assigning social work students to field placements
7. Providing agencies with necessary information about each student and her/his learning needs
8. Providing agencies with criteria for student evaluations and appropriate evaluation forms
9. Providing opportunities for Faculty Field Instructors, and Agency Supervisors to have access to emerging trends, professional resources, and research in social work
10. Establishing and maintaining relationships and open communication with the agencies used by the school

Field Education Coordinator

The Field Education Coordinator is familiar with the agencies and social service organizations in northern British Columbia and has a list of contact people who can be accessed for placement information and opportunities. The Field Education Coordinator acts as a liaison between the agencies and the University and provides all the administrative functions of field education. Specific responsibilities include:

1. Coordination of the maintenance and publication of the Field Education Manual
2. Distribution, collection and review of the Field Education Expression of Interest Form
3. Whenever possible, assistance in matching students with their first field education choice
4. Ensuring that evaluations of placements are distributed, completed and summarized, and the results are recorded
5. Maintaining appropriate correspondence with agencies
6. Organizing agency orientation and appreciation events
7. Maintaining records and files pertaining to the field education experiences

Faculty Field Instructor

The faculty person, who is responsible for liaising field education between field placements and the school. Specific responsibilities include:

1. Meeting with Agency Supervisors and students in the beginning of the term and informing about the expectations and responsibilities involved in field education
2. Ensuring that there is a good match between the student and the placement
3. Ensuring that the student's work contract is realistic and achievable

4. Ensuring the student's performance and discussing the student's progress at the end of fall semester and the end of winter semester or whenever necessary
5. Being available for consultation on field education matters including problem mediation between students and Agency Supervisors or other field practicum related concerns
6. Maintaining regular contacts with the Agency Supervisor and the student when there is any concern over the student's performance; participating in a review of the situation and formulating an intervention plan with specific objectives; and reviewing the progress on a regular basis
7. Ensuring completion of required documents and the return of all forms to the School at designated times

In addition to these specific requirements the Faculty Field Instructor will attend field meetings as required and participate in the overall development of the field education component. It is important that the Faculty Field Instructor strive to facilitate the student's ability to link practice experience with the theoretical concepts discussed in other coursework.

Agency Supervisor

The agency, organization or community representative who supervises students during their field education placement. This person is not a University faculty member but agrees to meet the terms and conditions of field education supervision. Ideally the person will have a social work degree though this is not an absolute necessity. People with extensive experience in social work positions will also be eligible to provide supervision to students. Specific responsibilities include:

1. Meeting with a representative from UNBC School of Social Work to discuss the nature of the field education opportunity. This discussion will examine the type of work, the appropriateness of that work, time commitment on the part of the agency and Agency Supervisor and various internal administrative issues such as transportation arrangements and clerical support.
2. Meeting with the student and Faculty Field Instructor to discuss the practice opportunities in the placement
3. Providing the student with an orientation to the agency
4. Providing practice assignments which are consistent with the expectations of the UNBC School of Social Work
5. Providing supervision and feedback to the students on a consistent, regular basis. Consultation and supervision should relate to the provision of information and education regarding administrative tasks and the development of skills and knowledge specific to social work practice. The Agency Supervisor should also provide support relating to time and stress management.
6. Liaising with the Faculty Field Instructor regarding the student's performance and progress. If there are difficulties or issues of concern, the Faculty Field Instructor should be informed immediately.
7. Participating in review and evaluation meetings with the student and Faculty Field Instructor (at the end of the fall semester and at the end of the winter semester), or as required
8. Evaluating the placement experience (the form to be returned directly to the Field Education Coordinator)
9. Have current knowledge of the relevant Code of Ethics

In addition to the above requirements the Agency Supervisors are to attend information meetings or orientation sessions offered by UNBC School of Social Work. Literature specific to field instruction will also be available to the Agency Supervisor.

Student

Field education is an essential part of the student's social work education. It provides the student with an opportunity to apply theory to practice through direct work with people and organizations. It is an opportunity for students to become familiar with some of the settings in which social workers are employed. Within this context students have certain responsibilities:

1. Adherence to the standards set forth by the Canadian Association of Schools of Social Work (CASSW) and the BCASW Code of Ethics
2. Participation in the pre-placement meeting (preferably in the summer)
3. Adherence to the agency protocol (i.e. dress code, hours, information sharing, etc.)
4. Attendance and participation at the scheduled seminars
5. Completion of required assignments according to the time frame
6. Participation in the student evaluation process
7. Completion of the field placements evaluation forms

Leaves

Sick days, personal leave days and holidays are issues that arise periodically during the course of field education placements. Students are allowed to be excused for illness, and serious personal or family issues. Normally students may not be absent from field education for any other reason. Exceptions may be made if the reason for the absence is first discussed with the Faculty Field Instructor and the supervisor. If the accumulated period of absence (for any reason) totals more than two days, the student will be required to make this time up during study break or at the end of the field education placement. Students who are absent from field education placements without valid reasons may receive a fail grade in field education.

Practicum Hours

Normally, MSW Practicum I is three days per week (Wednesday to Friday). The actual length of the working day varies from agency to agency. As long as actual work time falls within 7 to 8 hours per day, the student will meet the hour requirements for the field education placement.

The minimal hour requirement for MSW students in this placement is 546 hours (approximately 78 working days).

FIELD PRACTICUM AGENCY SELECTION

The Field Education Director seeks to develop relationships with social and human service agencies that meet the following criteria:

1. Commitment to training social workers
2. Ability to provide qualified Agency Supervisors who will provide required supervision and complete necessary evaluation forms
3. Willingness to work in accordance with the mission statement and goals of the School of Social Work
4. Ability to provide appropriate and diverse educational experiences consistent with the levels of field practicum
5. Provision of adequate space and supplies for student's assignment
6. Commitment to employment of social workers where appropriate
7. General objectives and operational standards consistent with the goals of social work education and the School of Social Work
8. Commitment to professional values consistent with the BCASW Code of Ethics
9. Commitment to principles of non-discrimination and affirmative action including, but not limited to, people of colour and women, people with disabilities, gay and lesbian individuals
10. Commitment to social and economic justice

PLACEMENT PROCEDURES

Requirements

Foundation MSW students must take SOCW 637-3 (Advanced Practice Methods) as a corequisite at the same time they are doing their MSW Practicum I (SOCW 632-9).

Criminal Record Search

A criminal record search through the RCMP is required before admission into the program. This process must be completed before full acceptance into the program. The copies of the searches will be forwarded to the UNBC Registrar's Office.

In the event that a student has a criminal record the Registrar's Office will inform the Field Education Director. The Field Education Director will meet with the student to consider such factors as the actual offence and the length of time since the offence to determine potential professional suitability. If the Field Education Director decides that the criminal record is such that it does not constitute a risk to clients or agencies the student will proceed to placement. However, any agency in which the student is scheduled for placement will be advised of the findings and the agency clearly has the right to refuse the proposed placement. Some agencies require an additional internal check of criminal records through the Attorney General's Office.

Field Education Placements

The Field Education Coordinator will maintain a list of available field education opportunities for students. As much as possible, an attempt will be made to match students with a field education experience that meets their interest.

Prior to the beginning of the placement the student must arrange to meet with the potential Agency Supervisor (preferably in summer). This pre-placement visit will allow for a preliminary discussion regarding the specific tasks and learning opportunities available at the agency. It should be noted that some agencies require a formal interview of the prospective students before agreeing to the placement. If there are any difficulties encountered during this process, the student should address these with the Field Education Coordinator.

MSW WORKPLACE PRACTICUM POLICY

For students enrolled in the MSW Foundation Year only

Because Field Education is aimed at providing students with new learning opportunities, normally, a practicum at a student's place of work will not be approved. In some circumstances, the Field Education Committee may approve a workplace practicum if the following conditions are met:

- The student articulates clear, learning-related reasons why a workplace practicum is more appropriate than a practicum in another setting
- The supervisor for the workplace practicum must be a different individual from the normal supervisor for the student's employment
- The tasks for the practicum must be outlined and must be materially different from the student's regular employment tasks, which also must be outlined (through a job description, if available)
- Division of time for the practicum and time for the student's employment must be clearly delineated

Please note: A workplace practicum is not a paid practicum. A student in the MSW Program will NOT be paid for a practicum.

Procedure:

- At least four months prior to the anticipated start of the practicum, the student will submit, in writing, to the Field Education Director a proposal for a workplace practicum, outlining how the proposed practicum meets the guidelines above
- If the Field Education Director finds the proposal to merit consideration of the Field Education Committee, the Field Education Director will circulate the request to members of the committee
- The committee will discuss the proposal and, if necessary, ask for clarification
- The Field Education Director will meet with the student for clarification, if necessary
- The Field Education Committee will vote on the proposal and the Field Education Director/Coordinator will inform the student of the decision

PLACEMENT OBJECTIVES

MSW students are placed in an agency or organizational setting where they have an opportunity to directly apply theory and knowledge to actual practice situations. Students may work with individuals, families, groups or communities in order to develop a range of advanced social work skills and competencies. While students will be able to assume some of the agency workload, the primary focus of a placement is on the student's development of social work skills. Consequently, the assignment of work must be balanced in such a way that the student is actively engaged in the work process but has time to think and reflect on the nature of her/his activities.

Skills MSW students should have an opportunity to develop include:

- advanced interviewing and helping strategies
- in-depth reflective and analytical skills
- advanced community development practices
- in-depth understanding of models of service delivery and agency structure
- in-depth thinking on professional values
- advanced case management skills

The exact nature of these skills will be dependant upon the nature of the agency and the work that it performs. However, it is expected that students will develop the ability to critically analyze structures and processes occurring at the individual, agency and community level. Where possible, in a practical sense, students are expected to actively promote change on the clients' behalf.

During this placement, Foundation MSW students are expected to build upon the skills that they have gained from their previous work experience. The fact that students will be in the placement for three days per week over two semesters will allow for work assignments that are more complex, more demanding of the student's time, and require a more advanced level of skills. The work expectations will be more extensive and the nature of the work will have a higher risk factor than the BSW level, although the risk factor should still not be regarded as "high". High risk situations include those where there is a real and immediate threat to the person's physical safety or an organization's viability. Examples of high risk situations might include assessment and intervention in child abuse, working with a person who is actively suicidal, or representing an agency in an appeal to a major funding body.

In this placement, MSW students have an opportunity to develop, refine and apply advanced generalist practice knowledge, skills, values and ethics under supervision in social service agencies.

The MSW students in this practicum should develop or demonstrate advanced level of the following skills:

- Ability to integrate into the work of an agency, and/or encourage changes in service delivery systems
- Independent decision-making skills
- Professional practice consistent with BCASW Code of Ethics
- Ability to apply social work theories and critical thinking to social work practice
- Ability to establish linkages between assessment and effective intervention
- Ability to master a repertoire of assessment, intervention and termination skills
- Ability to work effectively with clients and diverse populations
- Ability to evaluate effectiveness of practice
- Effective use of supervision
- Understanding of oppression and discrimination and a commitment to social and economic justice

Examples of appropriate work assignments might include carrying general child protection cases, support and maintenance of clients with mental health problems, and consultative preparation of organization program proposals. All of these assignments would be consistent with the expectations placed upon a new worker in these types of agency or organization situations.

OUTLINE FOR FIELD EDUCATION PLACEMENT

The following outline is followed to ensure that the expectations of field education will be met.

Spring Once admitted the student will meet with the Field Education Director or Regional Field Education Coordinator to discuss areas of interest and to begin the placement matching process.

Summer

Pre-Placement Visit (In cases where agencies require an interview or specialized criminal record checks, this will occur in summer)

September/October

Learning Focus: Students will concentrate on becoming familiar with the agency mandate, and procedures, as well as the history of assigned clientele. Also develop knowledge of pertinent legislation and the community and political contexts relevant to the agency.

Placement begins and during the first two weeks there should be an orientation to the agency and development of a Learning Contract for presentation to the Faculty Field Instructor. The student should develop an awareness of the services provided by the organization or agency, including the personnel who deliver these services and the client group being served. Work or case assignments will be discussed with the Agency Supervisor and the student should review files and pertinent documents. The student will accompany agency staff on work assignments. By the end of the first month, there will be case assignment of clients/community projects. The student will make contact with clients/community projects and begin the assessment and case/community planning process.

November/December

Learning Focus: Development of assessment skills, file recording skills, interview skills, intervention plans, group/meeting facilitation skills, community liaising and organizing skills, and policy/political analysis skills.

The student will clearly establish the nature of the work to be done with the assigned clients/community projects and complete assessments of clients/projects/ present circumstances and needs and enter appropriate file recordings. The student can examine existing intervention plans and discuss proposed changes with the Agency Supervisor. At the beginning of December, there will be a formal evaluation (end of fall semester) of student progress in the placement.

January/March

Learning Focus: Students will further develop their interview, community organizing and policy analysis skills and concentrate on self-evaluation of their own work with clients/communities.

The student will continue to work with clients and may have additional case or work assignments in order to maintain workload levels. During the first week of March, there will be a focus on preparing clients or groups for termination. All assignments should be completed by the end of March.

April

Learning Focus: Students will use their analytical skills to examine the structure and operation of a social service agency or organization. They will critically examine their use of self in the social work process and they will formalize termination skills.

The placement ends during the second week in April. All MSW Students are responsible for terminating with clients, groups and/or communities. This includes completion of all necessary agency/organization documentation. The student should complete the self-evaluation by the end of the first week in April. The formal evaluation (end of winter semester) of the student's progress will occur by the end of the second week in April.

FIELD EDUCATION CONTRACT

The field education contract is a formal agreement between the student, the Agency Supervisor, and the Faculty Field Instructor. The contract should be generated within the first three weeks of beginning the placement and the student should consult with the Agency Supervisor during the development of the contract. This will ensure that the goals and tasks specified in the contract are realistic and achievable. If the student is wishing to set goals that are outside of the agency's parameters or resources it will be contingent upon the Agency Supervisor to guide the student around this issue.

The field education contract will serve as a guide for the student's learning objectives and it will also be used as part of the evaluation component. The contract can be modified once the student is in the placement but any changes must be reviewed with the student's assigned Faculty Field Instructor and the Agency Supervisor. The document is developed in a partnership arrangement and it is contingent upon the student, Agency Supervisor and Faculty Field Instructor to be aware of its contents.

The field education contract should include:

1. Dates specifying the duration of the placement
2. The learning goals that the student has during the field education
3. The specific tasks that the student will be undertaking in the field education placement
4. The specific skills and knowledge that the student will demonstrate while accomplishing the tasks and achieving the learning objectives
5. The type of supervision that will be provided
6. The general administrative details including hours of work, place of work, transportation, dress code, and procedures regarding absences due to illness or personal issues

The contract should be as specific as possible and where practical, tasks and objectives should be described in a manner that provides for specific measurement. Students and Agency Supervisors will collaboratively set realistic and limited objectives that can be measured or observed. Achievement of success, by way of attaining goals is vital for the development of student confidence and competence. Once the contract is completed in IPT it should be signed by the student, the Agency Supervisor and the Faculty Field Instructor. The contract will be used as a component in the evaluation and it can also become an important learning tool.

Please see the IPT instruction book for details on how to complete the learning contract in IPT.

*Please log on to IPT, <http://www.runiptca.com> to complete all forms required for Field Education.

*IPT is an online field education database. This database will allow students, agency supervisors, faculty field instructors, the field coordinator and field director to more efficiently and effectively complete administrative tasks relating to field education.

EVALUATIONS

Evaluation of SOCW 632-9 is extremely important. Field education is the place where theory and practice are integrated, and each component is important to the development of professional social work. While the program recognizes that expectations and skill development may be different between agencies, the fundamental competencies of social work occur across various practice settings. In order to ensure consistent skill development, the Faculty Field Instructor assesses each individual student in conjunction with the identified Agency Supervisor.

There are two stages to evaluation:

1. End of Fall Semester
2. End of Winter Semester

Agency Supervisors are not expected to evaluate the student's course (SOCW 637-3) assignments but may give the student feedback if this is negotiated as part of the Learning Contract.

SOCW 632-9 is a pass/fail course. All components (attendance, field learning and field practice) must be completed to an acceptable level in order to receive a pass.

Please log onto IPT, <http://www.runiptca.com> to complete all forms required for Field Education.

1. END OF FALL SEMESTER EVALUATION

Expectations

- a) Completion of agency Learning Contract on time
- b) Completion of required tasks or assignments as set for mid-term evaluation
- c) Completion of evaluation form by Agency Supervisor

Procedure

Located in IPT, the Agency Supervisor and the student will complete the fall semester (mid-term) evaluation form. The student will also document in IPT additional information to the evaluation form by completing a paragraph outlining his/her perceived strengths, as well as a paragraph on the areas that need continuing development. The Faculty Field Instructor will attend the mid-term evaluation meeting with the student and the Agency Supervisor.

A joint meeting will be scheduled (early December) in order to review the evaluation and modify the learning contract where necessary. If issues are raised, a clear plan will be developed to provide the student with an opportunity to show progress. The completed evaluation form will be signed in IPT.

Following the joint meeting the Faculty Field Instructor will write a summary memo to be placed in the student's file. It will provide a brief synopsis of the student's performance to-date. The end of fall term summary memo will cover the following:

- Attendance
- Progress in agency placement
- Planning for the second half of the practicum
- Any identified issues and areas of particular concern

Outcome

Passing at mid-term: Student has met, or surpassed all requirements. The placement is progressing satisfactorily and there are no issues raised at the evaluation.

Needs Improvement at Mid-term: Student is having some difficulty in some areas. The MSW student can describe the activities, and/or describe the theory but does not provide a linkage. Student may not share self growth. These difficulties should be clearly articulated to the student. At this time, clear objectives and plans for improvement should be developed in writing in order for the student to be able to successfully complete SOCW 632-9. A further evaluation may be requested.

Failing at mid-term: If there are severe discrepancies between the objectives of the program, and/or the objective of the worksite and the student's progress, the student should be made aware of these. The concerns should be well documented and be reported to the Faculty Field Instructor or the director of field education. The outcome will depend on the nature of these discrepancies.

2. END OF WINTER SEMESTER EVALUATION

Expectations

- a) Completion of practice assignments to an acceptable level
- b) Integration of theory and practice
- c) Completion of evaluation form by Agency Supervisor

Procedure

Similar to the end of fall semester evaluation, the Agency Supervisor and the student will complete the end of winter semester (end-term) evaluation form located in IPT, which will be reviewed together by the Agency Supervisor and student prior to the end-term evaluation meeting. The completed evaluation form will be signed in IPT and a copy placed in the student's field education office file.

The Faculty Field Instructor will attend the end-term evaluation meeting with the student and the Agency Supervisor. Following the joint meeting, and upon completion of all the practice assignments, the Faculty Field Instructor will write a final summary memo to be placed on the student's file. It will provide a brief synopsis of the student's performance. A final summary memo will cover the following:

- Attendance
- Performance in the agency placement
- Any identified issues and areas of particular concern

Outcome

Pass: MSW students are consistently involving themselves actively in their own learning. They can describe an activity or event and articulate the prevailing theory that may be driving the action. They can provide an analysis or generate alternative suggestions based on other knowledge and articulate how that might change the outcome. The final self-evaluation is thorough and shows both a high degree of self awareness and overall learning from the placement.

Fail: The MSW student shows an unsatisfactory or inconsistent level of integration between theory and practice. There is evidence that the student requires excessive feedback or monitoring of his/her integration of knowledge and practice. The MSW student is unable to consistently connect practice with theory. The final self-evaluation does not meet the standards expected.

STUDENT PLACEMENT EVALUATIONS

At the conclusion of field education the placement will be evaluated by the student, the Agency Supervisor and the Faculty Field Instructor. The evaluation forms are located in IPT. All information is confidential and will be reviewed by the Field Director for future practicum development.

2. Follow by a list of Tasks and Responsibilities to achieve above.

1. Communication and intervention skills

a) The student will develop knowledge of the agency environment:

- Review agency policy
- Learn the process of service provision specific to the agency
- Learn how the agency connects to the larger community
- Integrate a generalist perspective on case assessment

- b) The student will develop effective working relationships with clients, co-workers and field supervisors:
 - Work on my engaging and rapport building skills with clients
 - Learn about effective working relationships through observation and discussion with my Agency Supervisor and co-workers
 - Reflect on my working relationship skills through journaling
- c) The student will develop effective communication skills (verbal and non-verbal) with clients, co-workers and supervisors:
 - Learn about effective verbal and non-verbal communication skills with individuals through observation and reading related articles, and self-reflection through journaling
 - Learn to develop effective listening and reframing skills
 - Tape (audio or video) one interview session with client so that my Agency Supervisor and Faculty Field Instructor can provide feedback on my communication skills
- d) The student will develop an understanding of various counselling approaches and their effectiveness with particular client groups or agency settings:
 - Read related articles on various counselling approaches
 - Integrate various intervention approaches to my practicum work
 - Reflect about the strengths and limitations of the various intervention approaches in social work practice settings
 - Observe 1 or 2 intake sessions with my Agency Supervisor
 - Conduct 2 to 3 intakes and complete intake reports on these interviews

2. Knowledge and Use of Community Resources

- a) The student will develop good knowledge on the available community resources:
 - Collect information on the available services at local, provincial, and national level
 - Visit local agencies, or support services and learn the various mandates and service provision options
- b) The student will develop effective utilization of related community resources:
 - Make necessary referrals for clients to related community resources
 - Advocate on the behalf of clients for adequate accessibility and availability of necessary resources

3. Agency/Organizational Dynamics

- a) The student will develop good understanding on the agency's mandate and related policies:
 - Read the agency's annual reports, and available documents on the agency's policies or procedures manual.
 - Organize meetings with my Agency Supervisor, and/or co-workers to understand the agency's mandate and related policies such as the confidentiality policy and dress code
- b) The student will develop initiation and self-directness for field supervision:
 - Identify areas for discussion during field supervision sessions
 - Seek both formal and informal meetings with my Agency Supervisor and Faculty Field Instructor for consultation
 - Students will actively identify both their strengths and areas which the student would like to improve practice skills

- c) The student will develop good understanding on the administrative functions:
 - Read about the various job descriptions for the agency
 - Ask my Agency Supervisor and co-workers about the role and functions as they see them
 - Reflect on my own role and functions as a practicum student in the agency setting
- d) The student will develop good record or report writing skills:
 - Keep proper records of contacts with clients, their family members or collateral workers.
 - Learn proper report writing by reading available reports or case files.
 - Submit 2 or 3 reports to the agency-supervisor for feedback

4. Professional values

- a) The student will develop a professional understanding of social work values and the Code of Ethics:
 - Read the BCASW and CASW Code of Ethics in the first month of my practicum
 - Reflect on any ethical and social work value related issues throughout my practicum and discuss these issues with my agency-supervisor
 - Re-visit the Code of Ethics at the end of the fall term
- b) The student will develop a strong understanding of professional social work practice:
 - Read related articles or documents on social work policy at mezzo and macro level
 - Communicate with other professional social workers as well as other helping professions to better understand the role and functions of social work at a micro, mezzo, and macro level
- c) The student will develop a strong understanding of the diversity issues facing clients from diverse backgrounds:
 - Read related readings of diversity issues in social work practice
 - Initiate discussions with my agency-supervisor and co-workers about cultural sensitivity practice when working with clients and their families
 - Reflect on all diversity issues through journaling
- d) The student will seek information about inequalities and discrimination that affect individuals and their families:
 - Read newspapers and related articles on current issues impacting on people accessing support services
 - Listen to clients, their family members, or co-worker on issues related to inequalities and discrimination
 - Select at least one example/issue to discuss during field supervision
 - Advocate on the behalf of clients around issues related to inequalities and discrimination
- e) The student will develop self-awareness of his or her own strengths and limitations:
 - Reflect on my strengths and limitations.
 - Discuss my strengths and limitations during field supervision including a plan where appropriate
- f) The student will develop self-awareness of personal values, beliefs, biases, culture, ultimately achieving an understanding of the diversity of others:
 - Reflect on my personal values, beliefs, biases, and culture and identify differences, with clients, co-workers, or agency-supervisor.
 - Read articles on issues and perspectives from different cultures.
 - Discuss the cultural differences specific to the agency during field supervision

THE FOLLOWING PAGE PROVIDES AN EXAMPLE OF A STUDENT PRACTICUM CONTRACT

The below chart is a brief practicum contract example to provide students with a sample of how to develop a detailed practicum contract. Your final version should have several more points in both the Mid and End term objectives and further details specific to your agency setting.

PLAN FOR MEETING THE ABOVE GOALS AND OBJECTIVES:

By the Mid Term Evaluation	Time Line (Sept – Dec)
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Learn the agency mandate, policy, and process for services provision 2. Read the agency’s annual reports, and available documents on the agency’s policies or procedures manual 3. Meet with my supervisor to create and confirm learning goals 4. Learn the process of service provision specific to the agency 5. Understand how the agency connects to the larger community 6. Demonstrate effective working relationships through observation and discussion with my Agency Supervisor and co-workers 7. Work on my engaging and rapport building skills with clients 8.
