Canada Alone? The Enduring Challenge of America First

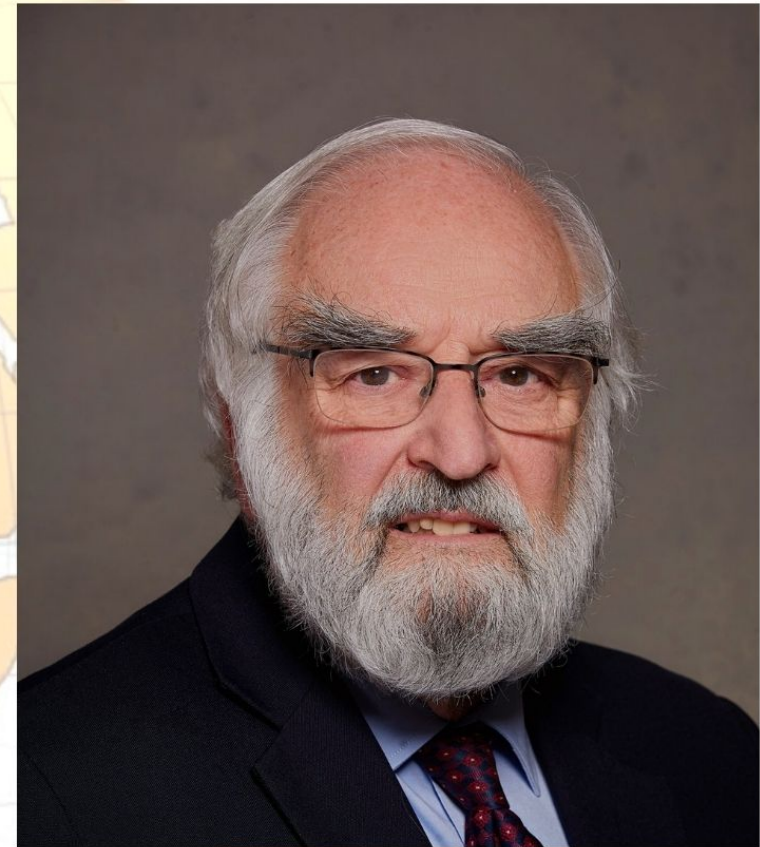

November 24

In Canada Alone: Navigating the Post-American World, Nossal argues that the return of a Republican America First president to the White House would bring about an unprecedented challenge to the unity of the West as a Republican administration picks up where Donald Trump left off in 2020. In this talk, Nossal will focus how Canadians might prepare for the possibility of the return of America First.
