

Casual Animal Care Attendant I University Casual Pool

Purpose

Reporting to the Manager, Animal Care and Welfare (ACW), you will assist in the operation and maintenance of the Northern Health Science Research Facility (NHSRF) and the Northern Medical Program (NMP) Anatomy Lab, ensuring duties are performed in compliance with University of Northern British Columbia policies and procedures, and the guidelines of the Canadian Council on Animal Care (CCAC).

Responsibilities

Specific duties of this position include, but are not limited to:

- General care and husbandry of research laboratory animals including: maintaining daily care of laboratory animals, animal handling, feeding, watering, cage cleaning and sanitizing, direct daily observation and monitoring of health status and record keeping;
- Providing minor medical treatments such as applying topical medication, oral drug administration or injections;
- General upkeep of facility including: thoroughly sanitizing animal rooms and equipment, disinfection, disease control and waste management; general cleaning duties in the facility and wash area; and maintaining an orderly and clean assembly of facility supplies and equipment, including stock levels of all consumables and components;
- Operation and monitoring of equipment (e.g. cage washer and autoclave), performing routine maintenance;
- Maintaining detailed records;
- Recognition and reporting of concerns to the Facility Coordinator and assisting with troubleshooting as required;
- General maintenance of NMP anatomy/histology facility, including: sanitization of laboratory rooms and equipment, disinfection and waste management, maintenance of facility supplies and equipment, including monitoring stock levels of all consumables and components;
- Operate and monitor disinfection and sanitization equipment in NMP anatomy/histology facility including dissection equipment washer and performance of routine maintenance;
- Preparation of the anatomy/histology facility and dissection equipment for instructional sessions; and
- Uniform and linen laundering.

Qualifications

The successful candidate will possess the following:

- A high school diploma; and

- A minimum of one month related experience in an animal care or of animal and laboratory research setting, and must be comfortable working in the presence of human remains and biohazardous hazardous materials.

An equivalent combination of education and experience will be considered.

Required safety and ethics training will be provided, and willingness to participate in continuing education is required. Registered Laboratory Technologist registration is preferred. Knowledge of CCAC guidelines, familiarity with WHMIS and handling chemical agents and laboratory safety guidelines is considered an asset.

The successful candidate must be self-directed, comfortable working with animals, have a philosophy compatible with animal-based research, be reliable and dependable, and have exceptional interpersonal, organizational and problem solving skills. The successful candidate must demonstrate the ability to work independently with minimal supervision and must have the ability to exercise tact, diplomacy, discretion, and confidentiality. This position requires performing strenuous physical activity such as heavy lifting.

Salary

This position has been classified at a Grade 1, $21.48/hr. The casual hourly rate of pay shall be at Step 1 for the Grade when filling a position that has been rated by the Job Evaluation Committee.

As part of our casual pool, employees are available on an on-call basis, and may be called in to assist during peak periods, vacation, or sick leave coverage. Due to operational needs, shifts will require working weekdays and statutory and presidential holidays.

Our Commitment to Diversity and Employment Equity

The University of Northern British Columbia is fully committed to creating and maintaining an equitable, diverse, and inclusive environment that is accessible to all. We are devoted to ensuring a welcoming, safe, and inclusive campus free from harassment, bullying, and discrimination. This commitment is woven into our motto and mission. In the Dakelh language, UNBC's motto 'En Cha Huná translates to "they also live" and means respect for all living things. Through the respect for all living things, we are able to grow and learn better together, each bringing our own unique individual differences and contributions to inspire leaders for tomorrow by influencing the world today.

Employment equity requires that we remove barriers and overcome both direct and indirect discrimination. In this way, the pool of excellent candidates increases substantially. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

About the Community

Since its founding in 1990, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) has emerged as one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a passion for teaching, discovery, people, and the North. UNBC's excellence is derived from community-inspired research, hands-on learning, and alumni who are leading change around the world.

Since time immemorial, Indigenous peoples have walked gently on the diverse traditional territories where the University of Northern British Columbia community is grateful to live, work, learn, and play. We are committed to building and nurturing relationships with Indigenous peoples, we acknowledge their traditional lands, and we thank them for their hospitality. UNBC's largest campus in Prince George is located on the traditional unceded territory of the Lheidli T'enneh, in the spectacular landscape near the geographic centre of beautiful British Columbia.

UNBC consistently ranks in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's university rankings. UNBC also recently placed among the top five per cent of higher education institutions worldwide by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

With a diverse student population, the University is friendly, inclusive, and supportive. Prince George is a city of ~80,000 people with impressive cultural, educational, and recreational amenities. For more information about living and working in Prince George, please refer to <http://www.unbc.ca/experience> and <https://moveupprincegeorge.ca>. Make your mark with this leading post-secondary institution.

To Apply

The University of Northern British Columbia is committed to employment equity and encourages applications from the four designated groups (women, Indigenous peoples, persons with disabilities, and members of visible minorities) as well as the 2SLGBTQ+ communities and individuals with intersectional identities.

Persons with disabilities, who anticipate needing accommodation for any part of the application and hiring process, may contact UNBC Health & Wellbeing at wellbeing@unbc.ca. Any personal information provided will be maintained in confidence.

Internal applicants from CUPE Local 3799 will be given priority consideration.

Please forward your resume and proof of education (e.g. copy of transcripts or copy of degree/diploma) and include the competition number #25-005CC in the subject line to:

Human Resources, University of Northern British Columbia,
3333 University Way, Prince George, BC, V2N 4Z9

Email submissions: HRecruit@unbc.ca
Inquiries: (250) 960-5521

All qualified candidates are encouraged to apply; however, Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority. We thank all applicants for their interest in UNBC however, only those applicants selected for further consideration will be contacted.

Applications will be reviewed on an ongoing basis and as positions/ casual assignments become available. UNBC retains applications on file for 6 months. If you would like to withdraw your application, you may do so by contacting hrecruit@unbc.ca.