

Assistant Professor

Posting #FACHEM01-25

Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry Faculty of Science and Engineering Full-Time, Term

The University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) invites applications for a one-year term position in the Department of Chemistry and Biochemistry at the rank of Assistant Professor, with a proposed starting date of July 1, 2025. As an institution committed to the fostering of an inclusive and transformative learning environment, UNBC values high quality and growth in both teaching and scholarship.

We are looking for candidates with a strong interest in teaching chemistry and biochemistry courses and a range of expertise across all disciplines in Chemistry. The successful candidate will be asked to teach a first course in Analytical Chemistry (lecture & laboratory), second year organic chemistry, a blended course in second year organic and biochemistry, a course in biochemical methods (lecture & laboratory), and an advanced organic chemistry course. The ideal candidate will be someone who has taken multiple courses in all of the sub-disciplines of chemistry.

This position has no expectation of research, however, the University of Northern British Columbia is ranked as one of Canada's best small universities with a strong emphasis on research and graduate programs. It has a core campus in Prince George and regional campuses and research institutes throughout northern British Columbia. The Chemistry & Biochemistry Department offers undergraduate and graduate degree programs (B.Sc., B.Sc.- Honours, M.Sc.) and has a wide variety of relevant research instrumentation such as multinuclear NMR (300 MHz and 400 MHz), FT-IR, Mass Spectroscopy, Gas Chromatography, and analytical and preparative HPLC. We also have a wide variety of instrumentation for Chemical-Biological studies such as a Cell Sorter, a QPCR machine, a multimode plate reader, and a confocal microscope.

Our Commitment to Diversity and Employment Equity

The University of Northern British Columbia is fully committed to creating and maintaining an equitable, diverse, and inclusive environment that is accessible to all. We are devoted to ensuring a welcoming, safe, and inclusive campus free from harassment, bullying, and discrimination. This commitment is woven into our motto and mission. In the Dakelh language, UNBC's motto 'En Cha Huná translates to "he/she/they also live" and means respect for all living things. Through the respect for all living things, we are able to grow and learn better together, each bringing our own unique individual differences and contributions to inspire leaders for tomorrow by influencing the world today.

Employment equity requires that we remove barriers and overcome both direct and indirect discrimination. In this way, the pool of excellent candidates increases substantially. We encourage applications from members of groups that have been marginalized on any grounds enumerated under the B.C. Human Rights Code, including sex, sexual orientation, gender identity or expression, racialization, disability, political belief, religion, marital or family status, age, and/or status as a First Nation, Metis, Inuit, or Indigenous person.

About the University and its Community

Since its founding in 1990, the University of Northern British Columbia (UNBC) has emerged as one of Canada's best small research-intensive universities, with a passion for teaching, discovery, people, and the North. UNBC's excellence is derived from community-inspired research, hands-on learning, and alumni who are leading change around the world.

Since time immemorial, Indigenous peoples have walked gently on the diverse traditional territories where the University of Northern British Columbia community is grateful to live, work, learn, and play. We are committed to building and nurturing relationships with Indigenous peoples, we acknowledge their traditional lands, and we thank them for their hospitality. UNBC's largest campus in Prince George is located on the traditional unceded territory of the Lheidli T'enneh, in the spectacular landscape near the geographic centre of beautiful British Columbia.

UNBC's three regional campuses are located in Quesnel, Fort St. John, and Terrace. The South-Central campus in Quesnel is situated on the traditional territory of the Lhtako Dené (Red Bluff Band), Nazko, Lhoosk'uz Dené Nation (Kluskus Band), and Esdilagh First Nations (formerly Alexandria Band). Lhtako, Nazko, and Lhoosk'uz are Dakelh First Nations, and Esdilagh is a member of the Tsilhqot'in Nation. The Peace River-Liard campus in Fort St. John is situated on the traditional territory of the Doig River, Blueberry River and Halfway River First Nations. They are the Dunne-Za people. The Northwest campus in Terrace is situated on traditional Ts'msyen (Tsimshian) territory of the Kitsumkalum and Kitselas First Nations. It includes a satellite campus in the coastal community of Prince Rupert.

UNBC consistently ranks in the top three in its category in the annual Maclean's university rankings. UNBC also recently placed among the top five per cent of higher education institutions worldwide by the Times Higher Education World University Rankings.

With a diverse student population, the University is friendly, inclusive, and supportive. Prince George is a city of ~74,000 people with impressive cultural, educational, and recreational amenities. For more information about living and working in Prince George, please refer to <http://www.unbc.ca/experience> and <https://moveupprincegeorge.ca>. Make your mark with this leading post-secondary institution.
