Ali Ibrahim, MBA graduate

Being a strategy manager, I must make business decisions on the team's behalf, which has always been a tough mental process. I now feel more confident about myself and my decision making.

Silvi Roses Dechant, MBA graduate

I learned as a leader to practice more listening than talking, to look with a different lens, respect others' thoughts as if they were my own and understand people through their values. This program allowed me to be vulnerable and curious simultaneously.

Nicole Setah, MBA graduate

UNBC's MBA prepared me to enter a management role by teaching me different skills and best practices that I incorporate in management today.
