LIFE AT UNBC

Learning

UNBC is big enough to offer a wide array of courses to suit your interests and meet your academic needs, yet small enough to ensure you have the opportunity to stand out.

We love experiential and applied education! No matter your program of study or future goals, you have opportunities to get out in the field and experience real-world, practical applications of your classroom learning at UNBC. You can participate in ground-breaking research as early as your first year, engage in in-depth conversations with your instructors and fellow students in some of the smallest class sizes in the country, work in Prince George and our regional communities in your field of study, take part in national and international field schools, travel abroad as an exchange student in any of 18 different countries, take part in co-operative education, and so much more.

Regardless of your educational aspirations, we have a structure and a learning environment that will work for you.

Food Services

There is no shortage of food services available on campus, including the Agora Dining Hall, student-run Thirsty Moose pub, snack outlets, and “grab-and-go” options.

The Agora Dining Hall features an all-you-care-to-eat, 7-Day Meal Plan that provides students access to a variety of healthy and nutritious food options.

We even have a fully stocked pantry and kitchen facility within the Dining Hall where you can prepare meals exactly to your liking or dietary preferences.

With two locations of Degrees Coffee Co. (our student-run coffee shop), a Tim Hortons outlet on campus, and Col Juicery in the Northern Sport Centre, students do not have far to go for their beverage needs – hot or cold, caffeinated or not!

On-Campus Housing

In Prince George UNBC’s campus housing is more than just a place to live for the school year — it is a convenient, safe and supportive community. Home to 540 students, the Neyoh and Keyoh housing buildings offer fully-furnished apartment-style living located less than a five-minute walk from the heart of campus.

Suites feature private bedrooms (equipped with bed and desk), a full kitchen, a large furnished living room, and a shared bathroom. Each building offers wireless as well as hard-wired internet, full laundry facilities on each floor, and a large common area for events, socials, study halls, and games. Campus housing offers the perfect blend of community and convenience.

Students are connected to both on and off-campus resources through their Housing Assistants, senior student leaders who provide educational and social programming for students living in housing. Whether it’s a movie or board games night, study skills workshop, or a floor-wide exercise night at the Charles Jago Northern Sport Centre, our Housing Life Team is here to build a community where our students can thrive.

CANADA'S GREEN UNIVERSITY

Green is UNBC's official colour – and way of life. UNBC students operate a compost garden, and can buy locally grown food at UNBC's weekly Farmers' Market.

Since 2011, we've been reducing our carbon footprint with our award-winning Bioenergy System. It heats the main campus, residence buildings, the campus Childcare Centre and I.K. Barber Enhanced Forestry Lab by using wood waste from a local sawmill and wood pellets, and has significantly reduced the University's consumption of fossil fuels. All-in, it's equivalent to removing 1,200 cars off the road each year.

We honour our environment with our campus architecture, the focus of our teaching and research, and the initiatives of our staff, faculty, and students. Situated within a tremendous natural laboratory, there's no better place to learn about natural resources, global environmental sustainability, and community vitality.

INDOOR & OUTDOOR RECREATION

Prince George boasts impressive sports facilities that host world-class events. A four-season climate ensures students can golf, play tennis, speed skate, and snowshoe. Cheer on the Cougars (our WHL team), the Spruce Kings (our BCHL team), go fishing, or float down the Nechako River at least once while you're here.

A Sport Centre for the North

The Charles Jago Northern Sport Centre features an elevated track and FIFA-approved turf in our field house, which makes it one of the most impressive sport facilities in B.C. You don't have to be a varsity athlete to play sports at UNBC; the intramural league is vibrant, offering many different options.

Outdoor Activities 24/7/365

For outdoor recreation, Prince George is full of parks and nature trails. In fact, more than 50 km of trails surround campus, and offer some of the best mountain biking and trail running in the city. Winter sport options are plentiful; Nordic skiing is nearby and three ski hills are within 45 minutes of campus.

ADMISSION REQUIREMENTS

Non-Competitive Entry

Deadline: March 1

The deadline for non-competitive entry programs is based on awards deadlines and course registration dates. Late applications to non-competitive programs are generally accepted but will not be guaranteed registration into a full first-year course schedule, nor will they be eligible for full awards and bursaries. For the most up-to-date list of program deadlines, please visit unbc.ca/apply/undergraduate/undergraduate-application-deadlines.

Minimum Average Required: 65%

The admission average is calculated using English 12 (or BC First Peoples 12), and the next three highest academic Grade 12 courses with an additional Grade 12 class (which can be an elective or an additional academic Grade 12 - whichever is highest). Upon application, students will be applying with "self-declared" grades as final Grade 12 grades are not yet available. Self-declared grades will be used for awards consideration if awards application deadlines are met. Students will be given a 5% margin in awards consideration (e.g. award recipients declaring an 85% average will still receive their award if their final average is 80%).

Competitive Entry

Meeting the minimum average and course requirements for a competitive entry program does not guarantee admission, as space is limited in each program. A competitive average is established yearly based on that year's applicant pool. Students are admitted on a rolling basis as students accept or decline their seat. Deadlines may be extended based on capacity. For the most up-to-date deadline extensions, please see unbc.ca/apply/undergraduate/undergraduate-application-deadlines

Conditional Acceptance to Undergraduate Studies

Conditional acceptance is offered to students who have met the academic requirements to an undergraduate program, but do not meet the English proficiency requirement. Conditional acceptance is only offered to those ELS students who apply for an undergraduate program simultaneously with an English Language Studies application.

English Language Studies

English Language Studies students are immersed in an academically stimulating environment, which promotes critical thinking all while building their academic speaking, listening, reading, and writing skills. Each of the five levels progressively builds students' skills. Upon the successful completion of the English Language Studies program, students will have met the English language requirements for entry to UNBC.

English Language Studies for Credit Advantage

Students who graduate from UNBC ELS start ahead. Why? Because students earn valuable academic credit, which can be counted toward their undergraduate degree.

TOMORROW'S LEADERS

The UNBC experience is unparalleled and prepares students for successful careers. Alumni become leaders across the globe and make the world a better place. Each of our graduates' stories of success builds the reputation and promise of a UNBC degree. We invite them to stay connected with us and proudly share the highlights of their journeys.

What makes UNBC unique? When our graduates reflect on their experience, they tell us that the access to professors, research opportunities, interdisciplinary learning, and interaction with small cohorts creates a community of support that leads to their success.

Our graduates tell us that UNBC helped them become better critical thinkers, improved their ability to acquire skills and knowledge, provided them with a comprehensive knowledge of their chosen subject area, and enhanced their problem-solving skills.
