

GLOBAL FRIDAY PRESENTS

Striving for Equity in Nigeria

by Godwin Ugah and Juliet Olory

Godwin Ugah is the National Program Director of the Council for Renewable Energy (CREN), Nigeria's largest renewable energy organization. CREN's programs include raising awareness of renewable energy in rural communities and fostering partnerships to achieve large-scale implementation of renewable energy in Nigeria.

Juliet Olory works with Development in Nigeria, a non-governmental organization whose core values are forest conservation, natural resources management and poverty alleviation. Juliet is currently working on a project funded by the International Union for the Conservation of Nature (IUCN), focused on conserving the Mbe Mountain forest.
