

GLOBAL FRIDAY PRESENTS

"The Business of Gold: The Chronicle of a Foretold Conflict" (2009)

A film that documents Mayan indigenous groups in Guatemala, who courageously resist the imposition of a gold mine owned by Goldcorp, Inc., a Vancouver-based, transnational company. The film (50 minutes) documents this one struggle - the resistance of the Maya-Mam people of San Miguel Ixtahuacán against the Canadian company Goldcorp Inc. Director: Gregorio LaSalle.

This is the debut film in the Traveling World Community Film Festival which is in Prince George, March 18 - 27.
